Romulus Cemetery fees rise

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The cost of grave openings and closings at Romulus Cemetery were ordered increased substantially Monday night, after City Clerk Linda Choate revealed the city had lost more than $52,000 in such costs in 1992-93.

According to a memorandum from Choate, the last fee increase for cemetery use was back in 1981, when union wages for Department of Public Works employees were much lower.

During the fiscal year of 1992-93, Choate wrote, the total expenditures for the cemetery were $75,991, while the total income was only $23,925.

"We are expecting even greater losses in fiscal year 1993-94," she said.

The cemetery fees currently from Mondays through Fridays are $550, while the cost to the city is $706.94.

The fees for Saturdays is also $550, but the cost to the city is $925.

Sunday and holiday fees are $625, Choate explained, while the cost to the city is $1,096.13. Thus the loss to the city ranges from $156.94 to $546.13, for the various days, she said.

Thus to update the opening and closing of grave costs, the council has approved the new rates at: Mondays through Fridays, $725; Saturdays, $925 and Sundays and holidays, $1,125.

Choate further explained "we are not increasing costs for burials of babies, cremations or graves."

The new costs are to take effect July 1, 1994.

Romulus man guilty of murder

A Detroit Recorder's Court jury found a Romulus man guilty of murder May 2 before Judge Thomas Jackson.

William Mario Johnson, 25, is expected to be sentenced for second-degree murder May 23 before Jackson. Johnson was arrested and charged in the death of Wayne resident Marvin Steiner.

Steiner's body was found wrapped in a mattress on Belle Isle Sept. 4. He was clothed, but had no identification, according to Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews.

During the Sept. 22 examination before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold, prosecuting attorney Charles Sellers informed Archbold that Robert Vass found Steiner's body. He also stated that a dentist was able to match teeth marks found on the defendant to Steiner.

Sellers read part of the police interrogation of the defendant conducted Sept. 9, 1993 by Wayne police Sgt. Chris Johnson at the Wayne Police Department.

"I was behind him and had him in a headlock," Sellers read. "I wrapped a fan cord two times around his neck. I saw his head turning blue. I unwrapped it right away."

Johnson could receive up to life in prison.

Whistle signals battle

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The annual "nighttime whistle" battle between the city of Romulus and local railroads was back on track Monday night, as veteran Councilman Ellis Pennington told a Norfolk Southern Railroad representative, "We're not asking you to do anything illegal, we just wish you would go away."

The on-going battle centers on the constant train whistle sounds "from one end of the city to the other" usually after midnight, Pennington has maintained for the past few years.

Pennington complains that the whistles literally "shake the bed" and keep scores of senior citizens awake through the night.

He invited David Cornelius, Norfolk Southern special agent, to "use our guest room for a night. We might not feed you good, but you'll get a taste of what senior citizens are going through because of the train whistles."

Cornelius told Pennington his wish for the railroad to "go away" will not be fulfilled, but he said he is working with railroad specialists to see what can be done to lessen the noise and improve the Romulus lifestyle.

He supplied city officials with the new railroad hotlines so that any malfunctions of railroad equipment (gates, bells, etc) can be reported directly to Norfolk Southern repair crews within minutes.

Cornelius again asked the city council to approve an anti-trespassing law, one similar to restrictions approved by at least two other area towns. The current request in Romulus has been tabled by the City Council, until other railroad issues are cleared up.

Cornelius said problems have occurred with train signals in Romulus and Norfolk Southern has been working for more than a year to clear them up. In other areas, the railroad is closing down some crossings, while making others more modern.

Despite the fact that three railroad crossings are very close to each other in Romulus, Cornelius promised no such closings are planned within the city.

Cornelius also said it appears the trains are traveling faster than they actually are.

"Our trains can only travel 50 miles per hour," he said, "although it appears they are moving at a much faster clip." Mayor pro tem Mary Ann Banks echoed Pennington's complaints stating "your engineers seem to lay on the horns from one end of the town to the other."

She also said the Romaine railroad crossing is in very bad shape, "in fact if a cyclist tried to ride over it he would be toppled from his bike."

Councilman William Wadsworth added "people don't

Romulus man killed in crash

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A car chase involving Huron High School students at speeds up to 100 miles per hour early Saturday morning resulted in a car crash that claimed the life of a 33-year-old Romulus man, and required the Romulus Fire Department "jaws of life" to free three Huron Township teenagers from their smashed vehicle, according to police.

Romulus Traffic Officer Rick Schwartz said the fatality was Earl Wayne Plank, son of the late Romulus Department of Public Works Director Robert Donald Plank.

The victim was killed at 12:10 a.m. last Saturday, Schwartz said, when his car was struck broadside at Wayne and Goddard Roads, by a vehicle driven by an 18-year-old Huron resident.

Mr. Plank was traveling east on Goddard and was making a left hand turn onto Wayne Road, Schwartz said, when his vehicle was struck. He was killed instantly, police reported.

The other driver, an unidentified 18-year-old Huron Township man, reportedly was injured and was treated at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne and then released.

His two teenage male passengers, who also were extricated by firefighters, were treated at Annapolis Hospital and released over the weekend.

Schwartz said an investigation is being conducted to determine if alcohol played a factor in the crash.

Police said the smashed Huron driver's car was chasing another vehicle that contained the driver's ex-girl friend and her prom date. The driver of that vehicle told police he was extremely frightened by being followed by three youths and thus attempted to flee from them at speeds of up to 100 miles per hour.

That car was not involved in the crash, Schwartz said.

Mr. Plank was a machine operator with the Davison-Wright Fastners Co. and a member of the Belleville Moose Lodge 934.

The funeral was at the Crane Funeral Home with the Rev. Robert Roscoe, pastor of the Romulus Freewill Baptist Church, officiating. Interment was in the Romulus Cemetery.

Chemical Awareness week set to begin

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Chemical Awareness Week begins next Sunday and it will provide a good opportunity for Romulus residents to learn about chemicals in their homes or workplace, Margaret LeDuk, emergency management director, urged today.

"While we have come a long way since 1986, when the federal government passed the Superfund Amendments and Reauthorization Act," LeDuk said, citizens need to learn more about chemicals in their lives.

The Superfund Amendment makes companies release information in regards to chemical use, storage and production. Employees also are to be told of the danger of such spilled or misused chemicals, how they are to be cleaned up when spilled, how to put out fires and what type of protective gear to wear, if necessary.

"You also now will see fertilizer employees applying fertilizer with gloves and safety glasses on," LeDuk said.

Various tips on hazardous material handlings also were released by LeDuk including:

(1) If you witness a hazardous materials accident, spill or leak, call 911.

(2) Stay away from the incident site in order to minimize your chances of contamination.

(3) If you are caught outside during an incident, try to stay upstream, uphill and upwind as hazardous materials can be transported quickly by water and wind.

(4) If you are in a vehicle, close off ventilation and shut your windows. This will reduce the possibility for contamination or inhaling the hazardous material.

(5) If you are asked to evacuate, do so immediately, but close all windows, shut vents, and turn off attic fans. Romulus school buildings will be used as shelters.

(6) If you are told to stay indoors, seal all entry routes as efficiently as possible. Close and lock windows with wet towels and duct tape. Close all fireplace dampers. Turn off all ventilation systems including furnaces, air conditioning, vents and fans.

(7) Avoid eating or drinking any food or water they may have become contaminated.

DIGEST

Annual clean up plans slated

The annual city clean-up campaign will begin May 21 and continue through May 28, City Clerk Linda Choate said Monday.

The free disposal of rubbish and trash will be permitted at the Department of Public Works Building, 34100 Goddard Road, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturdays.

The rubbish disposal regulations include:

- All users must show proof of residency.
- No more than two pick-up truckloads per day.
- No commercial disposals.
- No tires, tree limbs or trunks will be accepted.
- No large items such as sheds, boats, cars.
- No liquid waste products (chemical or petroleum products).

After May 28, Choate reminded residents, the cost will be $8 per mini-pickup or small trailer load and $10 for all full-size pickups or 4 by 8 trailer loads.

Sidewalk repair effort to begin

A sidewalk repair and replacement program was approved Monday night by City Council members.

The city Building, Safety and Engineering Department official propose to begin with repairs at the Huron Hills Estates subdivision (off Huron River Drive) and then will proceed to the Oakbrook subdivision (off Eureka Road.)

Bike-a-thon slated Saturday

Gary Blevins and Jeanette Lee are asking Romulus residents to join in the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Wheels for Life Bike-a-thon this Saturday at the Romulus Middle School.

All riders turning in money will receive a certificate. Those collecting $30 or more will be given a certificate and T-shirt and those turning in $75 or more will also get a sports bag. The highest fund collector will be awarded a bicycle.

Residents may contact Blevins or Lee at 941-6881.

Man robbed at gun point

A 53-year-old Inkster man told Romulus police he was robbed by two men as he was leaving a restroom at the Shell Station at Van Born and Middlebelt late Friday night.

The victim said the taller of the two men stuck a chrome handgun in his stomach and demanded "give me your wallet."

He surrendered his wallet that contained only his driver's license and credit card, the victim said, and then managed to escape from the rest room area.

The victim said he ran to the front office and then watched as the pair fled on foot into Westland.

The gunman was described as a black male, 6-feet tall, weighing 160 pounds, wearing dark clothes and a ski mask. His partner was listed as a black male, 5-feet, 8-inches tall, weighing 140 pounds and wearing dark clothes.

get killed because they don't hear the whistle, they are killed because they are drunk or are in too big of a hurry."

Cornelius said he would seek to have the Romaine crossing improved, but added it probably would help the effort if the council wrote to the railroad also about its poor condition.

He also said he would check to see if any kind of a waiver could be made on the length of horn blowing times, since all crossing are so close together in Romulus.

He had said state law regulates train horn blowing.

Mystery unfolds in stabbing death

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

While Eaton County Sheriff's detectives have arrested an ex-Detroit man and his Lansing girl friend for the stabbing death of a 30-year-old Lansing area businessman, Romulus police are not sure why the victim's barefoot body was dumped in a grassy field in Romulus on April 13.

The body of Ronald Clark Pasko, formerly of Indiana, was found by a citizen lying in a field on Cogswell Road, south of Ecorse Road in Romulus, about 8 a.m. April 13. Police later learned that Mr. Pasko had been killed in his own suburban home, just outside of the state capitol, and his body later dumped in Romulus.

Mr. Pasko's car was found abandoned on Route 69 on the Michigan side of the Indiana border.

Eaton Sheriff's deputies first arrested Stephanie Fisher, 24, in her Lansing home on April 29, Romulus Detective Sgt. Mike Ondejko revealed last Wednesday.

Several days later, her live-in boyfriend, Lee McDuffie, 25, formerly of Detroit, reportedly surrendered to the Eaton Sheriff's authorities, when he learned police were looking for him in connection with Pasko's death.

Both were charged with first degree murder.

Ondejko said neither defendant has given police an official statement and no definite murder motive has been revealed.

Some close to the investigation feel, however, that the motive is related to an old financial deal between the victim and McDuffie.

The only connection between the pair that police have revealed to date is that they were former co-workers.

Fisher and McDuffie are currently being housed in the Eaton County Jail pending a pre-trial hearing on Wednesday.

Ondejko said he and two fellow detectives, Dan Snyder and Gordon Malaniak, are waiting for subpoenas to testify in the case.

The discovery of Mr. Pasko's body clothed only in a red turtleneck shirt and jeans, came just as Romulus detectives were in the middle of an investigation in the shooting death of a Detroit Metro Airport visitor in the parking lot of a local McDonald's restaurant.

While the body was stripped of personal identification papers, police did find a paper nearby bearing Mr. Pasko's name.

His parents were notified and traveled to Romulus from Indiana to identify his body, police said.

Investigators from Romulus, Eaton County and southern Michigan teamed up in the probe that learned that Mr. Pasko was a Purdue University graduate. He had earned an engineering degree and divorced his wife, prior to moving from Indiana to the Lansing area several years ago.

School holiday requested

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

After Wayne City Council members denied a request to develop a resolution directing the Wayne-Westland School District to recognize Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday or "at least prohibit the giving of tests or exams on those days," Wayne resident Jim Netter repeated his request to school officials Monday night.

"I want a motion to stop holding exams on Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday which has created animosity in the schools needlessly," Netter said.

Although the City of Wayne observes the national holiday, council members denied the request stating they should not direct school district action on the matter.

"For the City Council to take action and issue an order to the school board is most inappropriate," Mayor Pro Tem Edward Phillips said.

Although Westland Mayor Robert Thomas has not yet responded to the same request, he agreed with the Wayne decision.

"I'm trying to stay out of things. I'm really reluctant to tell the schools how to set policy or how to run their own business," Thomas said.

Inkster City Council members, however, granted the request and approved a resolution asking the district to "change the practice of not recognizing the 15th day of January as Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Day and/or not require students to take final examinations, whom might otherwise qualify for exemption from such requirement."

"I'm trying to stay out of things. I'm really reluctant to tell the schools how to set policy or how to run their own business."

tivity."

Some school board members agreed that a resolution against testing on the national holiday was a good idea, however, others sought a policy which, Board President Francis Winter said, was "more binding."

"With a policy, the rule will still be there throughout time," Winter said.

Board Vice-President Mathew McCusker agreed, "A resolution says what we think. A policy says what we're doing. I'm probably the only person in this room that has walked with Martin Luther King. I'm sensitive to what your saying. It will be done."

Board members unanimously approved a resolution directing School Superintendent Dr. Larry Thomas, in cooperation with administrative committees, to study the issue of testing and present a policy to be considered by the board members by the end of June. According to Thomas, the proposed policy should take into consideration school testing on all religious and leadership holidays.

"We have to make sure we're equitable. We should work with the cultural awareness committee," Assistant Superintendent for Instruction Jane Kuckel said.

It is the charge of district unions, Thomas added, to negotiate King's birthday as a district holiday.

Strike averted

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Negotiators from the General Motors Powertrain Group, Romulus Engine Plant and members of United Auto Workers (UAW) Local 163 reached a tentative agreement on a new three-year contract about 10 minutes before a strike deadline Tuesday morning.

The negotiating teams battled various contract issues including work rules at the plant. They reached agreement at 9:50 a.m. The strike deadline had been set at 10 a.m.

The contract that covers

1,008 UAW members at the Romulus plant. The plant also has 130 salaried employees on the job.

The Romulus workers produce 4.3L V6 engines that are used in S-Blazers, pick-up trucks, and M and G vans.

The engines are shipped to assembly plants in Baltimore, Shreveport, Pontiac West, Moraine and Linden.

Both Bob Ranka, Powertrain plant and program manager, and UAW negotiators expressed great relief as the round-the-clock sessions concluded Tuesday. The agreement is subject to union ratification.

Budget is set

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The 1994-95 Romulus city budget totaling $11,498,386 was approved by a 4-1 vote Monday night, with only Councilman Randy Gear opposing the budget because Mayor Beverly McAnally had not increased the pay of the deputy treasurer and deputy city clerk to equal that of McAnally's Administrative Aide Betsy Krampitz.

Two council members, Jimmie Raspberry and Michael Prybyla, were absent from the meeting.

The issue of "parity" between the administrative aide and deputies' salaries was raised during the budget study sessions by Gear and Raspberry. McAnally said that Krampitz' salary was increased in the 1992-93 budget, when her aide "dropped 17 personal days pay and had her job description upgraded."

Since that time, Deputy City Clerk Pam Kersey and Deputy Treasurer Carolyn Smith's salaries will be increased $716 each for the new fiscal year and their fringes will be increased.

This leaves the two deputies $3,611 behind Krampitz, which Gear openly opposed Monday night.

The new budget will take effect on July 1, 1994.

The limited pay increases were also opposed by former council candidate Mary Collins, but for a different reason.

Collins said the city leaders admit that this will be a "skimpy financial year," but asked why only two employees were singled out rather than a minimum hike across the board.

Church finds new home

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

After spending two years preaching to his parish in a Romulus hotel room, the Rev. Larry Hines and his congregation can enjoy their services at the Lutheran Church of Our Savior, located at 29425 Annapolis Road in Westland.

"This is our first official traditional church building. Some groups start in homes or even basements of houses," Hines said.

The Harvest Baptist Community Church group was founded by Hines in March 1992 at the Royce Hotel near Detroit Metro Airport in Romulus. The group is renting space at the church and will have early-afternoon services on Sundays and special meetings throughout the week.

The now 45-member congregation began only as a group of four individuals. Church members are from Wayne, Inkster, Westland and Romulus and are looking to expand their congregation.

"We're looking to grow -- to locate and serve the community," Hines said.

The group received a police escort to the new church site by Romulus Police officers and the Wayne County Sheriff's department officials on their first day of services May 1.

Regular services are scheduled to begin at 12:30 p.m. on Sundays. A women's Bible study will be conducted at 7 every Monday night, Bible study is planned at 7 p.m. Wednesdays and prayer and praise at 8 p.m. Wednesdays. A youth activities group is scheduled to meet every Saturday at 5:30 p.m. More information regarding services is available at 728-3440.

Well opinion awaited

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Any hopes for a speedy end to the City of Romulus-Environmental Disposal Services court battle were dashed Wednesday, when Judge Claudia House Morcom told both sides that she had not finished reading motions filed late last month.

Morcom heard oral arguments from both sides on the matter of pre-emption involving Romulus city ordinances and actions by the federal Environmental Protection Agency and the state Department of Natural Resources.

The city contends the law is clear that state and federal regulations do not pre-empt local ordinances involving the creation of the planned $6.1 million liquid injection well, while EDS claims that the state and federal permits supersede city regulations.

EDS last spring and summer erected the first of two planned hazardous/non-hazardous liquid wells, but in the late summer the city was able to get a restraining order blocking EDS from any further work on the well site.

The oral arguments had been scheduled to take place on Tuesday afternoon, but were delayed until Wednesday because a jury trial was taking place in Morcom's court.

The oral arguments were interrupted several times as the jury in the separate matter asked Morcom for some clarifications during deliberations.

Morcom told attorneys for both sides at the conclusion of the oral arguments that she would prepare a written decision in the matter. No date was set for that decision to be announced.

If Morcom's decision is in favor of EDS, the city of Romulus may appeal her decision.

If it comes down in favor of the city, the actual trial phase of the legal battle will be next.

Both sides expect Morcom to take a minimum of two weeks.

City of Romulus, Michigan

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE CITIZENS OF ROMULUS ...

We at EDS would like to take this opportunity to discuss a number of mis-statements which have recently been made concerning our Deepwell Facility.

EDS hosted an informational dinner on July 13, 1993 in Romulus for members of the Romulus City Council, Planning Commission, Zoning Board of Appeals, the Mayor, City Clerk, City Treasurer, Head of the Building Department and other members of the administration. At that meeting, EDS personnel spent several hours informing the attendees of the details of the proposed Deepwell Facility including the anticipated construction commencement date of July 20, 1993 and answered all of the questions which were asked of them. In addition, company policy and information literature was distributed which stated, in part, the following:

"EDS' primary market will be manufacturers located in Southeastern Michigan."

"EDS plans to dispose of light liquids only, most of which are comprised of approximately 95 percent water. These liquids, for the most part, have already been recycled and have no energy value."

Today, our position on these points remains unchanged. However, recent mis-statements to the effect that Canadian waste will definitely be a big part of the volume disposed in the well and that contaminated oils, which are presently used as fuel in cement plants, would be transported to our Deepwell Facility are simply not true.

Again, we hereby wish to state for the record:

- Southeastern Michigan is the primary market for the Deepwell Facility and full disposal capacity will be allocated first to this market. Excess capacity, if any, will be allocated to other qualified and legally permitted parties including Geological Disposal Systems, Inc. ("GDS") our Canadian partner, and others. GDS is hopeful it will be able to provide a small percentage of Waste to be disposed of. According to GDS: "We have recognized all along that the primary market for the Romulus Facility is southeastern Michigan and that disposal capacity will then be allocated to GDS and others." To put this in perspective, the CWM Deep Well Facility, in Vickery, Ohio, less than an hour from Detroit and which the EDS project is often compared to by its critics, received less than 1% of its 1992 volume from Canada.

- Liquid wastes with high BTU contents, such as contaminated oils, are not suitable for deepwell injection. Liquid wastes which are suitable for deepwell injection are dilute wastes comprised of approximately 90-95% water.

According to the Michigan DNR, over 9,000 individual generators produced over 100,000 shipments of hazardous waste in 1992. The total quantities resulting from these shipments included approximately 76,143,333 gallons of liquid and 179,575 tons of solid hazardous waste. The seven county area comprising Southeastern Michigan accounted for over two-thirds of the liquid hazardous waste shipped that year. In Romulus alone, 87 companies shipped over 25 million pounds of waste in 1992. This data clearly demonstrates the abundant need for environmentally safe and cost effective disposal of liquid industrial and hazardous waste in this market area. Class 1 Deepwells have been determined by the USEPA to be "safer than virtually all other waste disposal practices".

EDS believes the residents of Romulus deserve to know the facts about our project and the technology involved. We hope this information is a benefit to you and ask that you call us with your questions or comments (955-2100). We expect to be operating in Romulus for years to come as a good corporate citizen and neighbor.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF
VAN BUREN
REGULAR BOARD MEETING MINUTES
MAY 3, 1994

Meeting called to order by Supervisor Jacokes at 7:30 p.m. Present: Supervisor Jacokes, Clerk King, Treasurer Foster, Trustee Cicotte, Trustee Clark, Trustee Rochowiak and Trustee Tomaino. Others in attendance: Public Safety Director Perkins, Lt. K. Brooks, Deputy Fire Director Smolen, Executive Assistant Ireland, Recreation/Park Director Long, Developmental Services Director McNally, Secretary Budd and an audience of twenty.

AGENDA: Motion King, support Cicotte to approve the agenda as presented with the addition of New Business Item #8. Consider the adoption of Resolution 94-18, designating the Director of Developmental Services as the authorized representative for all activities associated with the Downriver Sewer Authority System project. Carried.

PUBLIC HEARING: Motion Clark, support Rochowiak to open the public hearing to consider the 34th District Court annual budget request for 1994/95.

Supervisor introduced Judge Felix Rogalle and Michael Ramsey, Court Administrator. Michael Ramsey presented a revised copy of the expenditure portion of the budget. He stated that the only significant change, because of the great deal of discussion, was in line item #745, Transportation Allowance. This item has been reduced from the original figure of $9,900 to $4,500 for the 94/95 budget year and covers travel related costs incurred by the judges in the course of business. However, instead of being a standard monthly stipend, the transportation allowance will be based on actual miles traveled with documentation required.

Treasurer Foster asked about line item #740. Dues, Fees, and Subscriptions in the amount of $13,500 and was told that this expenditure covers the entire court staff for certifications, professional subscriptions, dues and a variety of other things. Supervisor Jacokes added that as a point of clarification $5,000 is used for credit card interest.

Clerk King asked about line item #770, Contract Services and under the detail, what was included in the $8,000 called, Other. Ramsey explained it as a kind of contingency account with the bulk of the funds used to cover the cost of CPA assistance in the updating of software for payroll programs and insurance purposes. Other items would be additional wiring for the computer and things of that nature.

Trustee Rochowiak asked about the fringe benefits and Ramsey stated that this represented about 40% of each salary and covered the normal benefit package of health, vision, life insurance and pension. Supervisor Jacokes added that the township's benefit package fell within the same guidelines.

Judge Rogalle explained that as a contributing community, Van Buren Township receives one-third of all its fines and costs. Romulus, as the host community and funding unit, receives two-thirds of the fines and costs, one hundred percent of its fines and costs, except funds required by statute to be forwarded to the State of Michigan and is responsible for providing the building and maintenance. Due to the fact that the court has operated "in the black," producing revenue to cover expenditures, Van Buren Township, City of Belleville, Huron Township and Sumpter Township do not make regular payments from its General Funds to operate the court.

Motion Foster, support Rochowiak to close the Public Hearing. Carried.

MINUTES: Motion Cicotte, support Tomaino to approve the Work Study Session Minutes of April 18, 1994 as presented. Carried.

Motion Clark, support King to approve the Executive Session Minutes of April 18, 1994 as presented. Carried.

Motion Rochowiak, support Clark to approve the Regular Board Meeting Minutes of April 19, 1994 as presented. Carried.

CORRESPONDENCE: Max Johnson, the Chairman of the Public Safety Citizens' Advisory Committee, presented the Board with their final report as of February 1994. Copies are available at the Clerk's office and one will be on file at the Fred C. Fischer Library.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS: None.

NEW BUSINESS: Motion King, support Clark to approve the adoption of Proclamation 94-16, National Day of Prayer. Carried.

Motion Clark, support Cicotte to approve the adoption of Proclamation 94-17, Optimist Bicycle Safety Week. Carried.

Motion Foster, support Clark to establish the position of Deputy Director of Developmental Services, approve the job description, which is noted in the April 25, 1994 memo, (approve the contract between the Charter Township of Van Buren and Lawrence Andree) and authorize the Supervisor and Clerk to execute the contract, and furthermore, approve the General Fund Budget Amendments as presented in the memo dated April 18, 1994. Carried.

Motion Foster, support Tomaino to acknowledge and receive the revised 34th District Court Fiscal 1994/95 Proposed Budget as presented on May 3, 1994 with the recognition that the line item that has been revised is account #745. Transportation, all expenditures from this account will have proper documentation showing actual miles traveled and costs incurred. Back-up information and all documents connected to the revised budget, except for the line item that is $4,500 transportation are attached to the memo from Supervisor Jacokes dated April 21, 1994. Carried.

Motion King, support Cicotte to approve the proposed Public Safety Millage ballot language as submitted in the memorandum from Director Perkins dated April 28, 1994. Carried.

Proposed Ballot Language
Public Safety Millage

Shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be levied against all property in the Charter Township of Van Buren, Wayne County, Michigan, pursuant to Act 359 of the Public Acts of 1947, as amended, for the purpose of providing funds for fire and police protection (previously financed by an expired 2.0 mill special assessment), be increased from 0.0 to 3.0 mills in 1994, 1995, 1996, 1997 and 1998 (each mill represents $1.00 for each $1,000 of state equalized valuation), generating approximately $1,174,932, $1,210,176, $1,246,480, $1,283,875 and $1,322,391 per year respectively?

Motion King, support Clark to place the ballot question on the upcoming primary election which is set for August 2, 1994. Carried.

disposal be provided in addition to the collection of rubbish. In addition, Waste Management is to provide a dropoff recycling center at the landfill facility for the collection of brown paper bags, styrofoam, paper board and corrugated cardboard, if blendable; further, that Waste Management indicate that they are willing to serve as a collection point for the collection of catalogs and magazine slicks, if the township is able to find a service that will collect them at the Waste Management Landfill facility, and finally, should Waste Management ever offer a household hazardous waste collection that that service must be offered free to the residents of Van Buren Township and to authorize the Supervisor and Clerk to execute the Second Amendment documents. Carried.

Motion Clark, support Rochowiak to adopt Resolution 94-18, designating the Director of Developmental Services as the authorized representative for all activities associated with the Downriver Sewer Authority System project. Carried.

Adversity is not necessarily an enemy

Every school is looking for commencement speakers. If your speaker cancels at the last minute, feel free to take the stand and read the 1994 Bennett Commencement Address. I come cheap. Here it is: I know that you graduates are heading into the world with an eye toward success, as well you should.

Success is what you've been preparing yourself for, and if you've been doing it right, you'll experience your share of it.

But I have news for you, and while you won't understand why just yet, it is good news: You're going to fail out there. You're going to fall hard suddenly, and at times, inexplicably.

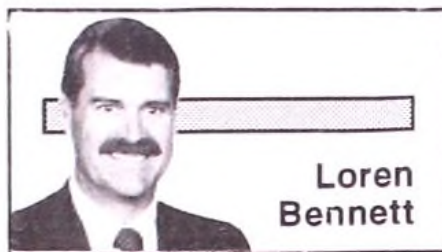

And it will be the best thing that happens to you, although you won't see it that way until much later.

Ask me. I know. The greatest failure in my adult life - failure in business - laid the groundwork for successes I've experienced since.

It's not because it taught me what not to do. That is something you can learn from a book. Rather, it's because my failure in business taught me about the essence of my own character.

More than a decade ago, I opened my own real estate company. I had employees, I met a payroll and it seemed like the logical extension of the education I had undergone to get a real estate license.

And then my trouble started. A national economic recovery had begun, but conditions at the time were still not the best.

Interest rate were still as high as 16 percent. And, most importantly, I did not have enough experience in business to know how to guide my young company through these tough times.

I had to face failure, and it tore at my gut. The people who had depended on my for their jobs lost them. The money I had risked to get the company started was gone forever, with nothing to show for it.

Ouch.

If I had to do over again, well - I don't. That's the point. You don't get to do things over again in the real world. That's why you have to try things the only time you're going to get the opportunity, the first time, not knowing what lays ahead.

Rarely have I worked as hard as I worked to save that company. I didn't save it, but I discovered how hard I was able to work. You can take that with you from challenge to challenge, and its value never fades.

Losing my business hurt, but it wasn't the end of life. And when you fail, and if you have any zest for life you will, it won't be the end of your life either.

If you don't have failure over the course of your life, you are not reaching for the brass ring. You're not challenging yourself enough.

Anyone can stay within their comfort zone, but you won't find your potential there. And if you stay there, you'll never reach it.

Show me someone who has never failed in life, and I'll show you someone who has not challenged himself or herself enough to be all they can be, and probably wonders what would have happened if they had.

Opinion

Musical chairs

The Canton Township clerk hopes to become a state senator. So does the supervisor of Van Buren Township and a Westland city councilman.

The Wayne mayor wants to become a county commissioner and the battle for a seat in the U.S. Congress has just begun between a Belleville businessman and a long-time congressional aide.

It is similar, indeed, to a game of musical chairs in which all the candidates hope to find an elected seat when the music of the voting machines stops.

We wish them well, each and every one.

To undertake a political campaign in this climate of suspicion and voter apathy is no small task. Each of these people, whether a seasoned politician or a novice making a first bid for voters' favor, will invest countless hours of heartbreaking labor and exhausting weeks of effort into a campaign. The mental, psychological and physical strain will be exceeded only by the financial toll a campaign will take on each of them. And still they wish to pursue this elusive goal.

Because, if the truth be told, the best candidate is not always elected. The best, most qualified candidates sometimes fail to impress the voters with their credentials or their qualifications and are faced with being the best and still failing. And after the hours of labor, the commitment, the effort and the battle for votes, to fail is disheartening, disappointing and devastating to the ego.

But still, they continue to file their petitions and hope to find the mantle of public service draped across their shoulders.

We hope that each of them fully understands the real importance of the job they seek and the magnitude of the responsibility of the office should they be elected.

We think most of them do—from those seeking election to office as district judges to the U.S. Congress hopefuls—the desire to serve must be motivated by a sincere respect for those who cast the votes which determine the outcome of any election.

We have seen, much to our dismay, candidates with less than the best interest of the public in mind in the past. We have seen self-serving, special interest and private agenda candidates come close to success in elections in our area and elsewhere.

And we have seen candidates we would have thought fail miserably bloom and grow into fine leaders in the sunlight of public responsibility.

Choosing a candidate is never easy. Voters are manipulated, deceived and inundated with literature and half truths.

But this time, so far, with the candidates who have declared their intent to seek office, we don't see how the voters can possibly lose. Those who have stepped up to date are some of the finest men and women we have known—and some of them are vying for the same office.

No matter what the outcome of the campaign, we laud each and every one of them for taking the risk, stepping up to the challenge and putting the effort, time and money into seeking public office.

Their candidacy is a welcome tribute to this area and to the system of government we enjoy and, most often, take for granted.

Join the gang

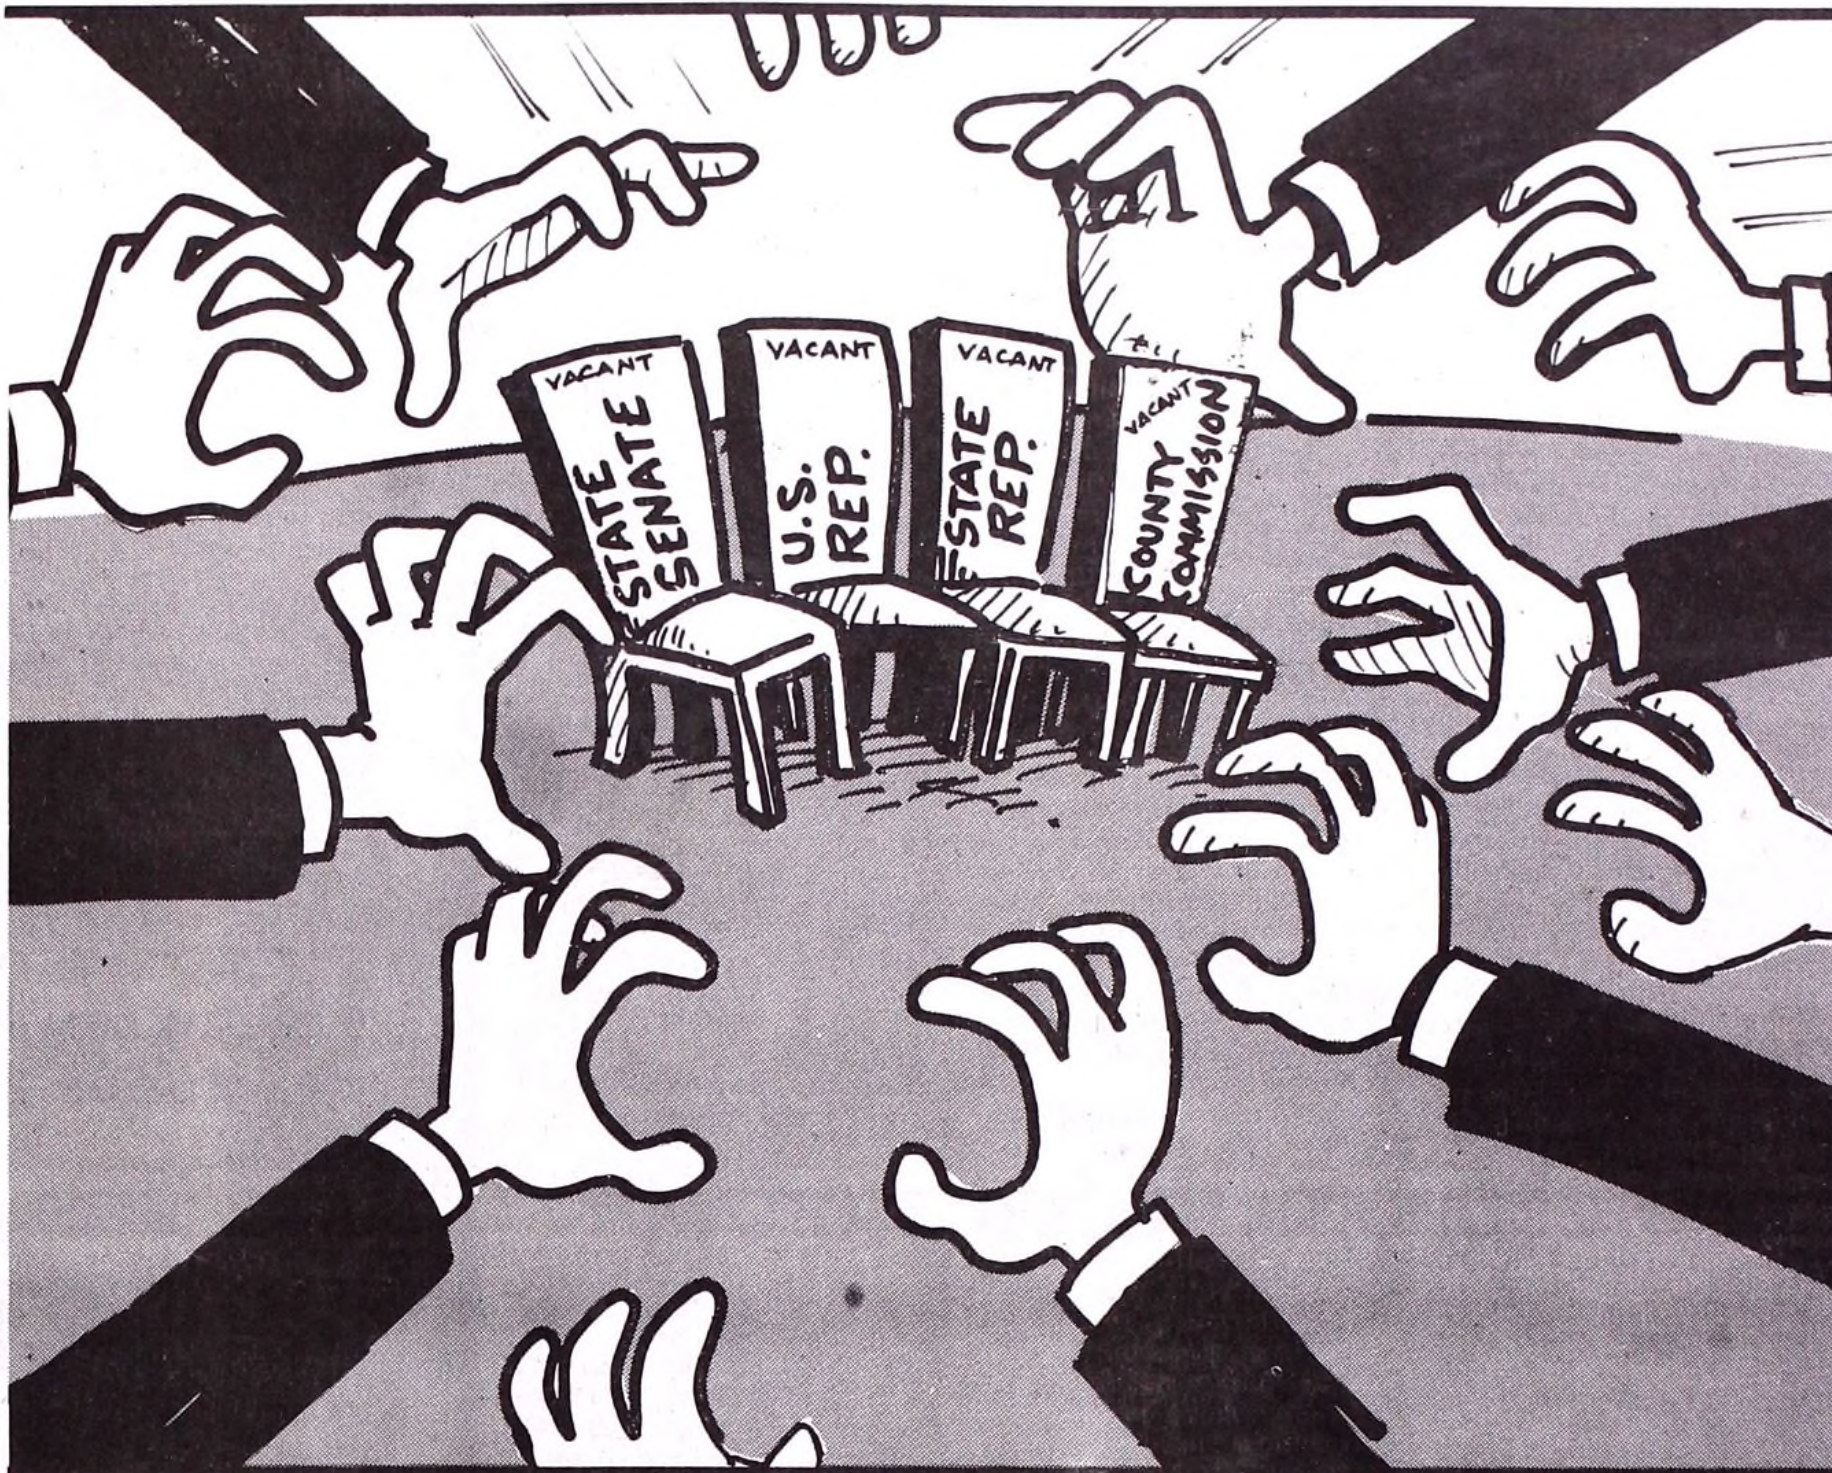

We've attended the seminars and heard the speakers.

We've listened to police officers, psychologists, youth counselors and gang experts and they've all told us the same thing.

Youth gangs are not a police problem, they are not a school problem and they are not a parent problem. Youth gangs are a community problem and unless area businesses, school administrators, teachers, parents, police, public safety employees, government officials and elected leaders at every level join together to fight this threat to our community—we simply don't stand a chance of saving our young people.

We've heard some talk and we've seen some effort. Let's move forward now. Let's not forget what we need to do and be united in our efforts to halt this encroaching, insidious threat to our young people.

Let's form our own community "gang"—and take back our territory from those who do us harm.

Settlement called for in lawsuit

To the editor:

This is our fifth letter to Mayor Beverly McAnally regarding the responses to Councilman Pete Bergeron's letter of March 10, 1994 which we have received. The responses are continuing to come back and they are overwhelming in their support of Mr. Bergeron's "call for the City Council to settle this dispute directly with EDS."

As of this date, over 500 Romulus voters have called upon the City Council to settle the lawsuit directly with EDS.

How can you, (Mayor McAnally) along with a slim majority on council, continue in good conscience to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars on fancy out-of-town lawyers to litigate this case against a company which has full EPA and DNR approval and which has offered such drastically needed benefits to our city? All this, while at the same time you are cutting back on important city services and personnel.

I have been a citizen, taxpayer and voter in Romulus for 20 years and my husband has been here since 1946. We have never before witnessed city officials acting in such blatant disregard for the wishes of the people.

Democrats blamed for social ills

To the editor:

Stop bashing welfare recipients! It's not their fault! The scapegoating of welfare recipients for all of the nation's social problems has become one of America's most popular indoor sports. It seems that everyone wants to get in on the act.

Republicans, Democrats, Perotists - working class and rich - union and non-union. Everyone wants to get in on the welfare-bashing crusade.

I would like to call your attention to the fact that most welfare recipients are uneducated, inarticulate and penniless. Individually, their political clout, on a scale of one to 10, is about a minus three. To blame them for the mess Washington has made of the welfare system is the ultimate example of blaming the victim. Welfare recipients did not ask to be snared in the social safety net that they are trapped in. That net was deliberately thrown over them.

Actually - the real blame for the welfare mess lies a little further up the political food chain. I am referring, of course, to the liberal wing of the Democratic party. It was the "Great Society" Democrats of the 1960s who laid the foundations for the modern welfare state in America. What started as a sensible effort to feed the children of the unemployed miners in Appalachia was twisted and turned by the liberal Democrats and eventually fashioned into the pernicious culture of entitlement that we have today. The liberal Democrats were the ones who made welfare into a lifestyle.

By paying people for being poor - Democrats were assured that they would always be a solid core of voters indebted to the Democratic Party. Indeed, it is this constituency of the paid poor combined with the tax-dependent public employees unions that accounts for much of the Democratic Party's political power today.

Many so-called new Democrats now suddenly say that they want to "end welfare as we know it." Some claim to have had a road to Damascus experience. Don't believe it! Democrats could not possibly afford to seriously alienate their paid poor constituency - they need those votes desperately. Any Democratic cure for the welfare problem will likely be worse (and more expensive) than the disease.

Having the Democrats tackle the welfare problem is like having a dog walk on two legs - it can be done, but it's never very convincing.

The real way to end welfare is to put everyone on notice that after a certain period of time no more checks are going to be sent. This will give people time to plan - some will get jobs; others will move in with friends or relatives; still others will form two-parent households for economic efficiency; yet others will make arrangements with other social and charitable agencies.

When Gov. John Engler ended general assistance a couple years ago - many Democrats predicted widespread social chaos with possible rioting and looting. Well? It didn't happen.

Welfare recipients are a whole lot smarter than Democrats give them credit for. Democrats should stop their patronizing attitude toward welfare recipients - it's insulting. Most welfare recipients are survivors - and if they can survive 30 years of patronizing Democratic social engineering and tinkering, they can survive anything.

Sports prompt criticism

To the editor:

I would like to express to you and the people in my community my disappointment with the following situation. I do not understand the special treatment given to certain members of certain sports teams while others are being ignored.

For example, why is it that the football and basketball teams get special pep rallies? What about the tennis team? Or the wrestling team? Are they not as important? Do they not try as hard as the others to give their school a good name? Why do some teachers give special privileges and grades to members of a certain sport? Don't we all have to work just as hard to achieve the same status? Apparently not.

Because of this, many of these "jocks" walk around the school thinking that they are better than everyone else. They don't realize that if it wasn't for the attention given to their sport they wouldn't be half of what they are. If it wasn't for the fans, who showed up at every game to cheer the team on, would the team try as hard to win? If there were no band or cheerleaders constantly giving the team their support, would the team have any glory? And what thanks do any of us get except a cold shoulder in the hallway?

Don't get me wrong, I'm not saying that every football player is so stupid that they have to be given grades just to pass, or that all basketball players are self-centered jerks. There are exceptions, as a matter of fact there are many who try their best to receive the grades that are expected out of all students, and many who show their appreciation to the dedicated people who support them. It's just those few who don't that make people like me angry.

I know there's not much anyone can really do to stop this from going on. I just want the people of Westland to realize both sides of the situation. Maybe they can start to appreciate all sports on equal terms.

Free skin cancer examinations set

To the editor:

I would like you to be aware of Skin Cancer Detection Day on May 18, 1994. This event is co-sponsored by The American Cancer Society and The Michigan Dermatological Society. For people living in the Plymouth and Canton Township area, examinations will be on May 18, 1994, from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. at Starkweather Center, 550 N. Holbrook, in Plymouth (in the Old Village area). Brochures on skin cancer, sun damage and sunscreens will be available for those who attend.

The American Cancer Society and The Michigan Dermatological Society sponsor these clinics once a year in May to promote early detection and treatment of skin cancer. Local dermatologists donate their time. Those participating in the Plymouth-Canton Skin Detection Clinic are A.C. Cattell, M.D.; A.A. La Fond, M.D.; and A.W. Gullick, M.D.

Friends needed

Rescue volunteers are sought

Friends of the Rouge are seeking volunteers for the ninth annual clean up of the Rouge River scheduled for June 4 at 25 sites throughout the river watershed.

More than 20,000 volunteers have participated in Rouge Rescue since the start in 1986, clearing logs jams and debris from the river and its banks.

"Veteran Rouge Rescue volunteers will tell you that the Rouge cleanup is a good place to get your feet wet and your clothes muddy," according to a press release issued by Friends of the Rouge.

In recent years, the clean up has been expanded to include such activities as:

- Preventing pollution by stenciling storm drains with warnings against dumping toxic substances such as oil, paint, anti-freeze and household chemicals into storm drains that flow directly into the river.
 - Bringing additional wildlife back to the Rouge by building and placing nesting boxes for birds, wood ducks, and bats (which devour mosquitoes and reduce the need for toxic insecticide spraying).
 - Planting trees to stabilize river banks and improve wildlife habitat.
- Rouge Rescue 1994 will also be the kickoff for the new Friends of the Rouge adopt-a-stream project called Rouge RiverWatch. This project will expand the Friends of the Rouge efforts beyond the one-time annual cleanup to year-round stewardship of the river.

RiverWatch is recruiting community groups to adopt a section of the Rouge and conduct quarterly litter cleanups and surveys to spot potential problems. Volunteers will also be given the option to monitor the water quality in the section of the Rouge they adopt.

Interested volunteers in the Westland area can pre-register at Dorsey Community Center, 32715 Dorsey Road, Bailey Recreation Center, 36651 Ford Road, or Community Relations, 33455 W. Warren in Westland. The clean up will begin at 8:30 a.m. and continue until 2 p.m. beginning at the west parking lot of Joe Randazzo's Fruit Market on the northwest corner of Newburgh and Warren roads.

Participants should wear old clothing, long pants, long-sleeved shirts and shoes should have sturdy soles to prevent punctures. Volunteers should be in good health with all immunizations up to date and have no open wounds. Persons should bring a bag lunch and insect repellent and those under the age of 18 will be required to have a parent sign a liability waiver on the day of the clean up.

For alternate locations, call Friends of the Rouge at 961-4050 and to help with the Westland area cleanup, call 595-0288.

State economy records growth

The Michigan unemployment rate dropped to 6.5 percent in March, the lowest rate in the state in the 1990s.

"Michigan is back. Our families are working, because our policies are working," said Governor John Engler.

The March figures reveal that employment in the state has reached an all-time high with 4,445,000 men and women on pay rolls. Included in that figure are 4,000 new manufacturing jobs and 4,000 new construction jobs.

struction jobs.

"Michigan workers and employers have made March a record-setting month - with record high employment, record low unemployment in the '90s and the largest one-month improvement this decade," said Engler.

In addition, state officials reported:

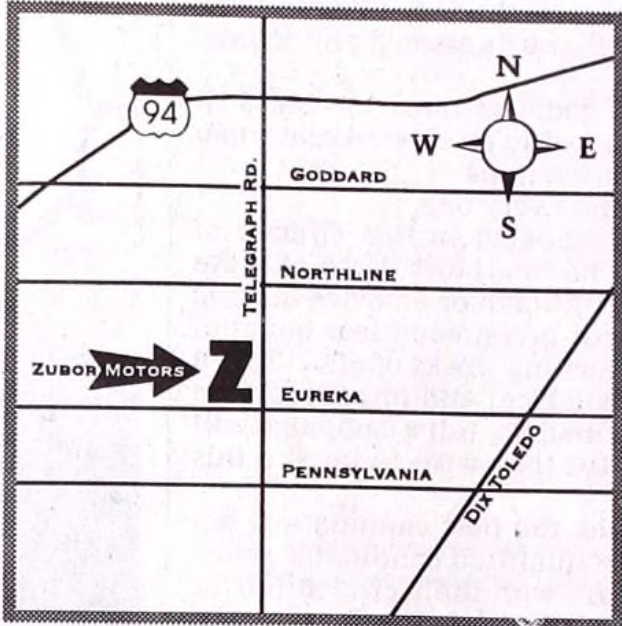

- Sales for the Big Three carmakers are up 21 percent from one year ago, as of February.

- Ford is increasing its North American production by 300,000 vehicles. Chrysler is investing in 6,000 new jobs to expand production and General Motors car sales are picking up so rapidly that some plans are unable to hire enough experienced workers.

- The value of Michigan stocks went up four times higher than the Dow Jones industrial average during the last two years.

Pitchers lift Rockets to a perfect 4-for-4 week

Morrison posts 2 shutouts

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Back-to-back shutouts from senior right-hander Brian Morrison and a two-hit pitching gem by Bryan Besco propelled the John Glenn High School Rockets to a perfect week in baseball last week.

Coach Norm Hoenes and the Rockets improved their overall record to 11-3 on the season - they are 5-1 in the Western Lakes Conference. However, Glenn continues to chase Plymouth-Salem, the only conference team to mar the Rockets' league record this year.

"Our pitchers got the job done last week," said Hoenes who is looking at five games this week. "Brian (Morrison) was exceptional. He pitched 14 innings of scoreless ball, and that's remarkable."

Morrison blanked Livonia Stevenson, 10-0, as he scattered three hits, struck out five and didn't walk any to lift his personal record to 3-2 on the year. He also shut out Farmington with a five-hit pitching performance, 7-0.

Against Farmington, the Rockets got to losing pitcher Mike Williams for two runs in the third inning, added four more in the fourth and put another run on the board in the fifth for the victory.

Williams was tagged for five hits with Jake Henry stroking a two-run single and Bryan Besco also tallying two RBIs with a single.

In the Stevenson game, Glenn bats came alive for 11 hits with Jeremy Cosby accounting for two hits and an RBI. Nick James also latched on to two singles in three trips to the plate while Jake Henry collected a single and three runs batted in.

Bryan Besco got credit for the 6-0 victory over Stevenson in the second game against the Spartans. Besco, who is 4-1 on the year, posted 11 strikeouts, walked one and gave up only two hits for the win.

Both teams were scoreless until the bottom of the fifth when the Rockets broke up the pitching duel with a five-run surge. In that inning, Cosby was safe on an error and, after one was out, Matt Howton singled, putting runners on first and second.

Jake Henry also came through with a single, chasing in the first run of the game. Besco then was issued an intentional walk. James singled home two runs and Chris Turner was hit by a pitch, loading the bases. A walk to James forced in the last run of the inning.

The Rockets will be back in action today when they will host Walled Lake Western. On Friday, Walled Lake Central will come to town for their second look at the Westlanders.

Eagles clipped by Rouge

One point separated Romulus from a fifth dual track victory of the 1994 campaign.

Without the crucial point, Coach Norbert Glover's Eagles were forced to hand over a cliffhanging 60-59 decision to River Rouge on Thursday.

The setback left the Eagles with a 4-2 over-all record going into last night's meet against Ypsilanti.

"I felt that if we could have pulled out at least one more point from one of the events, we could have tied or maybe even won this meet," said a disappointed Glover. "The meet shows how important it is to have everyone contribute."

Yes, one point can mean the difference between victory and defeat."

Romulus dominated the sprints against Rouge, sweeping the 100-meter dash with Phillip Franklin leading his teammates to the wire. Franklin carded a 10.79 in winning the event. James Erquart (11.2) and Eric Nunlee (11.31) were second and third in the event.

Franklin also picked up a win in the 200-meters as he crossed the finish line in 22.3.

The Eagles swept three relays, finishing first in the 400-meters with LaJaun Wilson, Tom Taylor, Erquart and Franklin (33.1). The same lineup accounted for the win in the 800-meters (1:32.2), while Glover picked Dominic Chaney, Ambrose Greene, Tyrone Tabbs and Wilson for the 1,600-meter relay. The four-some ran a 3:33.6.

In a photo finish, Jeremy Castle of Romulus conceded the 300-meter intermediate event to his Rouge rival as the two were clocked in the identical time of 43.1.

Romulus also finished 2.3 in the long jump. Jamial McClain leaped 20 feet, 2 inches and Wilson had a 19-foot, 8 1/2-inch leap. The Eagles came back with a first and third in the 400-meter dash with Larry Jackson posting the winning time of 52.7. Naim Khalifa finished third in 54.0.

The Eagles clashed with Ypsilanti on Tuesday. The meet is an excellent tune up for Glover's thinclads who are scheduled to run in a downriver invitational on Saturday.

Plymouth-Canton first baseman Ryan Ostrach beats Glenn's Nick James to the bag for an easy out, but Glenn came back and rallied for four runs in the top of the seventh to crush the Chiefs, 8-4, in a Western Lakes Conference game. 4-run 3rd inning not enough for Canton

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

A four-run, last of the third-inning explosion by Plymouth-Canton wasn't enough to stop Westland John Glenn High School on Saturday as the Rockets rallied for an 8-4 victory over coach Ed Turek's Chiefs in a Western Lakes Conference baseball game.

It was the third straight loss for the Chiefs to Glenn this season.

The Chiefs, sparked by Ryan Ostach's bat, got to Rocket starter Mike Bint for four runs to rout the senior hurler who was replaced in the third by reliever Jerry Farra. Farra, with help from Bryan Besco, eventually got the victory.

Glenn scored three times in the fourth, then tied the score thanks to Bryan Besco's solo homer in the fifth. The Rockets broke the deadlock with four more runs in the seventh to seal the victory.

In that decisive seventh, Canton pitcher Tom Valimenti gave up a walk to Jeremy Cosby who raced to second when Jake Henry sliced a single. Then, Valimenti intentionally walked Besco, loading the bases, to bring Nick James to the plate.

James sliced a single to score Henry and Besco. He eventually came around on a wild pitch.

James finished with two of the Rockets' 10 hits, including a double and single. Bint contributed three singles in four trips and three runs batted in while Brian Morrison had two RBIs.

Ostach led the Chiefs' sixth-hit assault against three Rocket hurlers, collecting a pair of two-baggers and two RBIs.

Tigers are making their move

By TOM MOORADIAN

With one out-of-conference exception, Belleville had a near-perfect week last week.

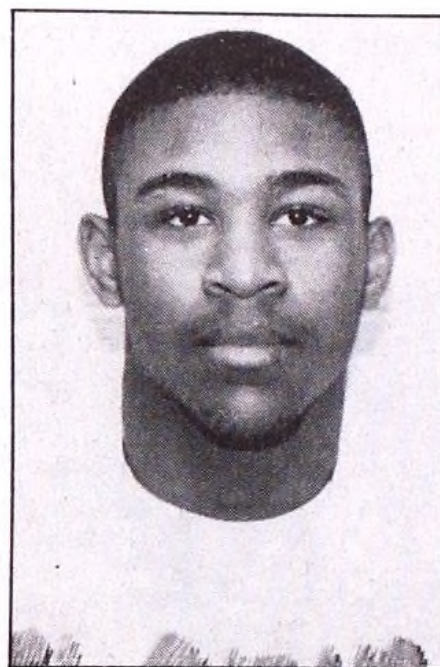

And coach John Bertz would take more of the same, he says, this week if he could have it his way.

The Tigers started off on Monday by blanking Wayne Memorial, 6-0, then Ralph Truitt, one of the hottest pitchers in the Mega Conference Red Division, fired a two-hitter against Monroe in chalking up a 4-2 victory on Wednesday.

Belleville trimmed neighboring Romulus 6-3 before losing a 12-4 verdict to Ann Arbor Huron on Saturday.

Huron exploded for an incredible 10 runs in the last of the seventh to pull out the victory.

"With the exception of that last inning against Huron," said Bertz, "we had a near perfect week. The pitching has come around and the kids are hitting. If we can just keep this going, we're going to be all right."

Right-hander Jeremy Gray stunned Wayne as he struck out 14 and walked three in pitching a five-hitter against coach Jim Chronowski's Zebras. Gray helped his own cause with a pair of singles, two runs scored and an equal number of stolen bases off of loser Shannan Green, who lasted four innings before giving up the baseball to reliever Phil Snow.

Matt Davenport greeted Snow by blasting a homer over the left field fence in the fifth inning.

Greene had two of the five Wayne hits, one going for a two bagger.

Truitt evened his personal record to 2-2 at the expense of Monroe as he notched eight strikeouts, walked one and hit one batter.

Monroe got on the scoreboard first, with a run in the

Romulus is in need of a win

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

After losing all four games last week, Romulus High School baseball coach Don Foley says that "what this team needs now than anything else is a victory."

"The kids are down and we need a psychological boost is the form of a win," Foley noted. "If we can pull one out, it would help us get ready for the stretch."

The Eagles will play seven games in six days this week. They started the week against a Taylor Baptist Park club (Monday) that is also having its problems. On Tuesday, Romulus is scheduled to play a double-header against Ann Arbor Huron and tomorrow they will be guests of an erratic Garden City team that beat Wayne Memorial but lost a 16-0 decision to Belleville.

Romulus also is on the road on Saturday. They will be in Dearborn Heights for a twin bill against Annapolis.

"It's a week where we could help ourselves and improve our record if we can shore up our defense," Foley added.

The week got off to a losing start for the Eagles when Adrian swept a pair from them. Adrian won the opener 10-2 and came back in the nightcap for a 6-3 victory.

Foley started Jesse Flores

in the opener and the Eagle hurler lasted 1 1/3 innings as Adrian scored five runs in the second and four more in the third to breeze to victory. Nick Locklear followed Flores and he looked impressive for 5 1/3 innings.

Romulus collected four hits off of winning pitcher Brad Brice, who was tough on the Eagles. Brice fanned 10, but walked seven. Romulus second baseman Eric Lambert drilled two of those four hits and also walked while Danny Czajkowski hammered a solo homer, the first in the Eagles' new ball park.

In the second game, sophomore southpaw Ryan Evans was the victim of faulty defense as the Eagles committed four miscues in the 6-3 loss. Evans managed to strike out nine and walked four in tossing a seven-hitter.

Jeremy Vanderhill scattered three hits and managed to overcome a shaky start. The Eagles got to the winner for two runs in the first frame as Locklear and Tim Roberts walked and scored after a double steal and Evans' single to right field.

In the fifth, Roberts doubled, move to third on Flores' single and the Eagles got their final run on a wild pitch.

The Eagles also came out on the short end of a slugfest with Taylor Truman last week as Foley used three pitchers in an unsuccessful attempt to stop the Truman bats. Truman pounded out 10 hits in a 11-7 victory over the Eagles who scored three unearned runs in the bottom of the fifth to win it.

Czajkowski laced a solo homer in the second for one of nine Romulus hits. Lambert continued his hot hitting with two singles, a pair of RBIs. Steve O'Connor also checked in with two singles and Flores pounded a bases-loaded double in the fifth that opened the gates to a 7-5 Romulus lead.

In a game called in the bottom of the fourth because of rain, and with Ypsi Lincoln ahead 11-10, Czajkowski had a perfect three for three in the game.

The Eagles entered the week looking at a 2-9 overall record.

Belleville, Dearborn battle for track title rights

Undefeated titans clash Thursday

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

After clearing one title obstacle last Thursday in the form of a victory over Monroe, undefeated Belleville High School runners will invade Dearborn to determine which team will remain atop of the Mega Conference Red Division standings.

The two track titans will meet on Thursday at Dearborn.

Belleville coach Dave Medley realizes that he and his thinclads have a tough assignment.

"Dearborn is rich in track talent and tradition," Medley said. "They have a lot of balance in every event and, to go along with their tradition, they have excellent coaching."

Dearborn is coached by Bob Bridges, the dean of area high school track coaches.

Belleville made it 4-0 on the season at the expense of Monroe, a team that also has a reputation of producing outstanding athletes and distance runners. The Tigers managed to come away with an impressive 85-52 victory over the Trojans who couldn't compete with the Tiger speed and the expertise of sprinter Curtis Lunsford.

John Glenn is back on track

By TOM MOORADIAN

Westland John Glenn is back on track. The Rockets swept 10 of 17 events to turn back Livonia Stevenson, 81-56, to bounce back from a loss last week and boost its overall record to 3-2 on the year.

The Rockets, sparked by a pair of double-event winners, will travel to North Farmington on Thursday for another Western Lakes Conference division match, and coach Jess Shough believes that if his club can run the way it did against Stevenson, it will be very competitive.

"We looked good against Stevenson," said Shough. "We got a team effort, and that's what we need against North." Glenn hurdler Todd Peterson dominated his specialty as he cleared the 110-meter event in 15.4. He then posted a 43.5 in capturing a first in the intermediate hurdles for his second win.

The Rockets' other two-event winner was Shawn Arbogast, who had a personal best toss in the shot put of 52 feet, 2 inches. He also won the discus competition with a 137-foot, 8-inch performance.

The Westlanders also picked up six other first-

Lunsford, a senior, was a triple winner in the dash events and he also anchored the speed relays. Lunsford claimed victories in the 100, 200, and 400-meter dashes. Teammate Kevin Robinson captured both hurdling events.

On Saturday, the Tigers competed in the Ken Herrick Invitational hosted by Hillsdale and came away with the silver trophy.

Ann Arbor Pioneer, ranked in the top five in the Class A polls last week, won the 16-team invitational with a total of 91 points. Belleville finished a distance second with 67 1/2. Albion was third (66).

Belleville earned a share of gold medals: Nate Lewis leaped 20 feet, 3 1/2 inches for a first in the long jump and Chris Cannon won the 400-meter dash with a 44.0 performance.

The Belleville 1,600-meter lineup of Robinson, Russell Stewart, Darnell Hamilton and Lunsford also finished second.

places. Torrence Walker leaped 18 feet, 9 1/4 inches in the long jump, and John Porter negotiated 10 feet, 6 inches in the pole vault, while Shamar Lott claimed the 400-meter dash with a 53.19 effort.

Glenn stashed away a first in the 200-meter dash as Phil Allen crossed the finish line in 25.1.

Shough had the best 3,200-meter relay team in the field thanks to the performances of Henry Honeycutt, Joe Vojtowicz, Chris Gillen and Jason Olewnick who covered the distance in 8:39.78.

In the 1,600-meter or mile relay, the Rockets had a four-some that included Lott, Peterson, Jason Cosby and Olewnick who were clocked in 3:42.3.

opening inning, but Belleville replied with two runs in the bottom of that inning as Truitt led off with a single off of starter and losing pitcher Chad Hill. Truitt advanced to third on an errant pick-off attempt. After Matt Davenport got aboard, Justin Carey came through with a two-out single to score the base runners.

Truitt finished with two of his team's seven hits and he also accounted for an RBI and scored once.

Jacob Reeder turned his third start into his third victory as the Tigers stopped Romulus, 6-3.

Davenport collected two hits including a double and Charlie Way had a perfect two for two while Jason Garland's single scored two runs off of loser Jesse Flores who went the distance, struck out seven but walked six in taking the loss.

The Eagles also collected seven hits, three of those from Danny Czajkowski. Eric Lambert had a double and walked twice.

Huron jolted Belleville with 10 runs in its seventh to hand reliever Chad Parker a loss. Parker took over from Jason Garland, who relieved starter Rodney Karmaromi in the third inning.

Mike Beard went the distance for the River Rats to put the win in his column.

In the third inning, Belleville took a 3-1 lead when Brian Dick worked Beard for a walk. Davenport also walked and with runners on first and second, Garland advanced them with a sacrifice bunt. Gray's two-run single and Pat Wilkerson's base hit produced the three runs.

Belleville got a shot on Monday at the Mega Conference leader, Southgate Anderson. Then the Tigers will return to the ball park at Taylor Center today and on Friday, Garden City returns a visit to Belleville.

On Saturday, Belleville will have an opportunity to avenge the 12-4 loss to Ann Arbor Huron. The Tigers are in Ann Arbor for a double-header that will get under way at noon.

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Belleville wasted a sterling performance by sprinter Nicki Williams on Thursday and lost a 71-57 Mega Conference, Red Division dual track meet to Monroe.

Williams captured two of the Tigers' seven first places as she crossed the finish line in 13.53 to win the 100-meter dash. She also led the pack to the wire for the 200-meter events.

Williams' winning time for the 200 was 28.98.

"Monroe has an outstanding team," said Belleville coach Sam Vicchy. "We just don't have the depth to compete with them this year."

Belleville also won the long jump competition thanks to Canise Singleton's performance. She leaped 13 feet, 3 1/2 inches for the first place. In the discus, Belleville's Amanda Ryan took the event with a 98 feet toss.

Vicchy's 800-meter relay team made up of Stephanie Phillips, Richana Davis, Tatiana Williams and Nicole Whitehead was clocked in the winning time of 1:57.26 for another Tiger first.

The 400-meter relay team which included Nicki Williams, Phillips, Davis and Tatiana Williams also picked up a first place with a 54.6 effort.

Belleville also had the best 300-meter hurdler in the field with Megan Sanders reaching the finish line first in 56.2.

It won't be easy for Belleville tomorrow, either. The Tigers are scheduled to meet Edsel Ford in Dearborn. The T-Birds are considered the premier team in the league this year.

"They have a lot of depth," said Vicchy, "and are also favored to win the conference title this year."

Firefighters... for a day

Students take tour of township fire station

Students from Savage Elementary School took a tour of the Van Buren Township Fire Station last week to learn exactly what it is that firefighters do when not out battling blazes and saving lives. The children were invited into every room at the station and learned about fire equipment, including trucks, hoses, belts and boots. The reaction from both sides was tremendously positive noted both firefighters and educators involved.

Fiber-optic upgrades planned for Belleville, Romulus

Plans have been announced by Ameritech to invest more than $3.35 billion in state-of-the-art fiber-optic and digital communications technologies in Belleville and Romulus this year.

Some $2.49 million will be invested in equipment for Belleville and $368,000 is slated for Romulus, according to Mary Roehr, local community relations manager.

"The commitment is part of a half-billion dollars the company will spend throughout the state in 1994 on advanced telecommunications technology critical to Michigan's future," said Roehr. "Our goal is to build an Information Age network that makes our state a magnet for new industry and new jobs, and an even better place in which to live and learn."

Ameritech consistently makes one of the largest annual capital investments of any corporation in the state, she said. Since announcing a four-year, $2 billion construction program in 1992, the company has invested about $1.2 billion.

The network - expected to reach about half of the 3.5 million customers of the firm by the end of the decade - will provide advanced basic broadcast services. A significant portion of the investment has been in digital electronics and fiber-optic cable - the backbone of the information superhighway. Fiber-optic cable is more reliable and has infinitely more capacity than copper cable.

Among the benefits of the services are:

- Emergency services such as Enhanced 911 and advanced calling features such as Caller ID, Automatic Call back and Distinctive Ringing.

- High speed data services that allow distant locations to share massive amounts of data - such as those that enable automotive engineers at separate sites to work simultaneously on complex blueprints, and
- Systems designed to help improve the quality of education, such as distance learning networks.

"We're putting in place the system our customers need to travel the information superhighway. It is a system designed to assure Michigan's competitiveness for new industry, enhance education and improve the quality of life for all our customers," Roehr said.

Search for college president begins

Trustee Ted Scott has been named to the Search Committee which will seek a new president for Wayne County Community College (WCCC).

President Dr. Rafael Cortada resigned from his post last month, and is expected to remain until July.

"The intent of the board of trustees was to place three trustees on the Search Committee, and it is possible that one of those names may change in the future," said Scott. "I expect that we will have satisfactory results from our search. I had some problems with the process that was used in the last search, but I was pleased with the final selection of Dr. Cortada. This time, I am pleased that we have representation from western Wayne County on the committee."

The committee includes Scott, who will serve as chairman, Trustee Denise Wellons-Glover, Trustee Ollie McKinney Jr., plus a representative of New Detroit and other organizations.

At the beginning of the selection process, resumes from prospective candidates will be viewed by the committee, and not by the board at large, Scott said.

"We do not want to hide any information from the public, but we also want to preserve the current employment of those who submit resumes."

"I plan to continue to update the residents of western Wayne County in District 9 about our progress, and, of course, the final selection," Scott said.

Drug sale suspected

Security officers at the Fairfield Inn radioed Canton Township police April 29 about a suspicious vehicle in the motel parking lot.

According to the security officer, the driver of a 1978 brown pick-up truck had circled the parking lot before pulling side-by-side with another vehicle to pass something through the window. Hotel employees suspected a drug deal was occurring and called police for assistance.

The driver of the truck told the officer that he was there looking for his sister, but admitted that he had a small plastic bag of marijuana on his person. During a routine search of the vehicle, the officer discovered an additional bag of green leafy-like substance and a pipe, police said.

A total of 6.3 grams of suspected marijuana were discovered on the 21-year-old Canton Township man. He claimed he bought the marijuana from a co-worker, police reports of the incident indicate.

By the time police arrived on the scene, the other vehicle had left the vicinity.

Businessman enters primary

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

Republican Dennis G. Fasset of Belleville announced his candidacy for the 13th District Congressional nomination on Saturday.

Fasset, who has never sought elective office before, said his decision to enter the primary race is based on his belief that the district has been under the control of political insiders for too long.

The 58-year-old self-employed businessman is a former newspaper editor, cable system regional manager and public relations consultant. He is a licensed Michigan residential builder and electrician, and has built and renovated several homes in the district. He is also a sports enthusiast and participated in the founding of the Westland Over-30 Hockey program. Throughout his career, he has been an active participant in community and political affairs and has served on several boards and commissions.

“Our federal government continues to waste taxpayer money...”
Dennis G. Fasset

Fasset, a 33-year resident of the district, said, “My reasons for seeking the Republican nomination to Congress are based on my strong conviction that ‘individual freedom’ and ‘big government’ cannot co-exist.”

“Our federal government continues to waste taxpayer money, politicians continue to believe that the citizens of this district are under taxed, and the political ruling class is more interested in getting re-elected than in dealing with the critical issues facing this district such as crime, welfare and term limits.

“With your support, I will work in Congress to reject a philosophy that is damaging our families, destroying our schools, encouraging crime and dividing our citizens. It’s time to begin the job of making this district, and America, a better and safer place for everyone,” Fasset said.

As a telecommunications professional, Fasset said he understands how and why the coming Information Superhighway should and must be used to improve our educational system and quality of life. As a fiscal conservative, he has strong ideas on how to limit the size of government and convert federal waste into crime-fighting programs. As a homeowner, he understands the negative impact of high taxes on the families of today, he said.

Dennis Fasset

Fasset said his 30 years as a resident of the district provides him with a knowledge of its people, its problems and its promise.

Members of the Committee to Election Fasset to Congress are Michael Reddy, chairman; Skip Wendt, coordinator; Mary Lipnitz, treasurer; D.P. Fasset, assistant treasurer; and Sandy DePeyster, secretary.

Community garden

planned at court

Westland 18th District Court Judges C. Charles Bokos and Gail McKnight have announced the implementation of a community garden to be located behind the court located at 36675 Ford Road.

The idea of developing a community service garden originated from the Fifth District Court in Niles, Michigan. The program was established to provide a meaningful sentencing alternative to jail time.

With the assistance of Michigan State University Consumer Horticultural Agent Robert Bricault, the garden, which will be planted and maintained by non-violent offenders, is currently being prepared. This project will enable the court to donate free produce to Wayne County Family shelters, the Salvation Army, Westland Bread Basket, Senior Citizens and other organizations in need.

“We believe the community wins with implementing this type of project. Not only will it benefit needy organizations, the taxpayers of Westland will not bear the added expense,” a press release issued by court officials stated.

The garden will be 2,000 square feet with an additional 500 square feet pumpkin patch.

In the release, court officials thanked the following community donors: Bushel Center, Panetta’s Landscaping, Nankin Hardware, Do It Center, Frank’s Nursery and Target store. Work program supervisor David Gillies is seeking additional donations of materials for the garden. For further information, call Gillies at 595-8720.

Former firefighter makes bid for office

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Retired Westland Fire Department Sgt. Robert Stottlemeyer announced his bid for the office of state representative in the 18th District, a seat currently held by Justine Barns, who plans to retire after her term is completed in 1995.

“Following Representative Barns and retired Representative Thomas Brown will be the greatest challenge I have encountered in many years, but I am more than willing to meet that challenge,” Stottlemeyer said.

Stottlemeyer, a 57-year-old life-long Westland resident, retired in 1987 after serving 25 years on the city fire department. He has been married to his wife, Betty, for 37 years, has four children and eight grandchildren.

Although he has not served

“I feel I’m qualified because I’ve never been in office. I don’t owe anyone.”
- Robert Stottlemeyer

in any previous political office, Stottlemeyer feels he is more than qualified for the position.

“I feel I’m qualified because I’ve never been in office. I don’t owe anyone. I want to serve the people,” he said. “I’ll vote the way people here tell me.”

Stottlemeyer, who ran against Barns for the seat 12 years ago, has been active in the community for the past 30 years.

“I’ve always served the City of Westland. I’ve done countless things in the field of benefits,” Stottlemeyer said.

The candidate has been in-involved in 4-H throughout the state and served as a representative and vice president of Rural Youth USA. He has also been active with student activities at St. John’s Lutheran School and Huron Valley Lutheran High School in Westland.

The candidate has participated in many charitable fund raisers that have benefited the local community serving as a Goodfellows member and by starting two senior citizens garden programs.

Stottlemeyer has received recognition and awards from the Westland Jaycees, state and county 4-H divisions, Wayne County Hospital, Muscular Dystrophy Association, University of Michigan Burn Institute, Closed Head Injury Alliance and the Inkster Police Department.

“When you send someone to state or federal office, they usually forget where they come from. It is my intent to continue my commitment to the community I have served for over the past 30 years,” Stottlemeyer said.

MRI — A SAFE, PAINLESS WAY TO BE EXAMINED

by Ashok B. Jain, M.D.

A new technology has paved the way for physicians to examine patients without the potentially harmful effects of x-rays and without having to perform surgery. Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI) offers a safe, painless, and effective way for physicians to evaluate most structures of the human body.

Amazing clarity and detail
MRI can detect and evaluate conditions within the body that traditional x-rays cannot distinguish — including tumors, multiple sclerosis, infections, structural disorders, and injuries such as tears or breaks in ligaments, cartilage, and tendons. The MRI images are of such amazing clarity and detail that physicians are able to pinpoint brain lesions, and identify problems of the spinal cord, knee, abdomen, and other organs and tissues.

How it works
In part, MRI is a giant magnet. The patient rests in the MRI's hollow cylinder, where a powerful magnetic field and radio waves gather information from a specific site in the body. This information is sent to a computer, where black and white images are generated and physicians analyze the information.

Safe and painless
Because the examination doesn't require any incisions, MRI offers fewer risks than some other diagnostic alternatives. A typical MRI scan lasts approximately 30 minutes. It poses no risk to the average patient, although individuals with pacemakers, metallic implants, or any type of metal fragment in their bodies may not be examined with MRI.

MRI travels to you
Oakwood Health Services has a mobile MRI unit which travels to neighborhoods surrounding five of the Oakwood health care system hospitals: Annapolis in Wayne, Beyer in Ypsilanti, Heritage in Taylor, Oakwood in Dearborn, and Seaway in Trenton. It also visits the Oakwood Southgate Health Center in Southgate.

Dr. Jain is a board-certified radiologist with a specialty in Imaging. He is on the Medical Staffs of Annapolis Hospital, Wayne, and Beyer Hospital, Ypsilanti. Dr. Jain is director of Special Imaging at Annapolis Hospital.

A stitch in time Bridal shop helps with planning a perfect day

By LAURIE HUMPHREY
ANP Staff Writer

When you offer the best service possible, word travels fast said Marsha Dagenais, manager of Eva's Bridals in Dearborn.

"Business has been extremely good," said Dagenais. "Being new, we thought it would be slower, but it's been busy since the beginning of March. There is a two-week waiting list for fittings."

Located at 25070 Michigan Avenue, the shop opened last August because "the Dearborn area needed a big salon. It's easy from the expressways and we get brides from Canada, Lansing and Ohio," said Dagenais.

Open from noon to 5 p.m. Sunday, Monday through Thursday from 10:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. and from 10:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, bridal consultants help brides find their best look and coordinate the accessories.

"We offer complete service," said the manager. "Many brides come in here and have no clue about what needs to be done. They need someone who is at least knowledgeable about how long it takes to order a dress and do alterations."

The store is designed to offer one-stop-shopping for the bride and her attendants. In addition to wedding dresses, priced between $500 and $4000, the store has a wide selection of mother's dresses, bridesmaids dresses, prom dresses and accessories. A tuxedo shop is also on the premises.

Dagenais suggests brides begin looking for their dresses at least six months before the wedding, because it takes that long for the dress to be ordered from the various companies.

"We prefer girls look eight months to one year ahead of time so that they have time to look for accessories," she said. "And it's no problem to store dresses that come in months before the wedding. We even have some dresses ordered for 1995."

For a limited time, VIP card holders can receive a discount between 10 and 15-percent off all merchandise. The store also offers different incentives for different times including special discounts for parties that purchase the bride's and bridesmaids' dresses. "We work with our customers," said the manager.

Eva's Bridals in Dearborn features an extensive line of designer bridal gowns which offer the perfect gown in all price ranges. At right, one of the many styles is fitted to perfection for a future bride. Below, a few of the many styles and colors of tuxedos available are displayed. The shop offers attire and accessories for the entire wedding party.

Shop offers a 'better way' for car repairs

By LAURIE HUMPHREY
ANP Staff Writer

After years of watching car care customers absorb a 70-percent mark-up on car parts, Anton Nordby, a trained technician, discovered a better way to do business.

Nordby enlisted the aide of his sister, Vistina Franklin, and brother, David Nordby, to open Bring Your Own Parts Auto Service in Westland April 18. Located at 1251 Wayne Road, between Cherry Hill and Palmer, the family-owned and operated business caters to customers from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

"When my brother was working for other businesses, he noticed that about 25-percent of the customers brought their own parts and asked if they could be put in," said Franklin, "but the companies weren't allowed to do that. He got the idea to give people the choice."

The concept of Bring Your Own Parts Auto Service is to allow people to supply their own parts and save money. Individuals who chose not to supply the parts can purchase them through the new business however, at a minimal mark-up rate.

"The most we mark-up our parts is 20-percent and that price then includes labor and delivery charges," said Franklin.

Trained technicians are on hand to install brakes, shock-struts, exhausts, front ends, drive axles and rack-in-pinion steering but the biggest response has been to the $9.95 (plus tax) oil change. The deal comes with a $3 mail-in rebate.

Employees at Bring Your Own Parts Auto Service strive to please all their customers, those who know what the auto problem is and those who do not.

"We have a lot of people who are mechanics themselves and just don't have the time," said Franklin. "We also have people that come in, get a free written estimate and get a list of things they need."

All parts must meet state requirements before employees install them.

For the customer's convenience, there is a lobby on the premises, or they can wait in the comfort of their own home. "We get the approval of the customer before we start working on the car," she said.

For a limited time, VIP card holders can receive 10-percent off non-sale items, with the exception of the $9.95 oil change. For more information phone 326-9898.

Purse snatcher robs woman

A 56-year-old Westland woman was robbed of her purse while exiting her vehicle outside Tronic-Ware Company, a sheet metal manufacturing company, located at 38230 Executive Drive in Westland, according to Westland police.

According to police reports, the woman parked her vehicle in the north parking lot at the location around 6 a.m. and was getting out when the perpetrator ran towards her and grabbed her purse, containing credit cards and checks but no cash.

The alleged victim attempted to hold on to the purse while the victim was kicking him, but the man was able to "forcefully" pull the purse away from her grasp, police said.

The robber fled to small white two-door vehicle, possible an Ford Escort, parked behind the victim's car and drove off towards Executive Drive with a front seat passenger.

The robber is described as a stocky black male in his early 20s, about 5-feet, 10-inches tall. The passenger is described as a Hispanic male.

Testimony heard in murder attempt of family

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

A jury trial for a 27-year-old Westland man, who is accused of attempting to murder his then pregnant wife and two small children by setting their family home ablaze in May 1993, began in Detroit Recorder's Court Wednesday.

Robert Michael Mulka was charged with three counts of assault with intent to murder and an arson charge following the May 25, 1993 fire from which the family escaped without injury.

Opening arguments were presented by prosecutor Mike Lehto, however co-defense attorneys Otis Culpepper and David Cripps bypassed opening arguments and testimony was taken by the defendant's wife and other witnesses. Testimony is expected to continue through Monday.

Mulka's wife, Wendy Mulka, 22, testified that she was in the home sleeping and heard glass breaking just before her 7-year-old daughter screamed, alerting her to the fire.

"I heard the glass breaking before my daughter screamed. I thought Rob dropped a glass. I didn't think nothing of it. It was no big deal to me," Mulka said.

Mulka testified that she fell back asleep shortly after the sound and was awakened by the sounds of her 7-year-old daughter's screams in the hallway outside her bedroom around 6:30 a.m.

When she saw smoke in the hallway, Mulka got up and went to her 1-year-old daughter's room with her eldest daughter and escaped through the bedroom window with the two children, according to testimony. As she was approaching her youngest daughter's room, Mulka testified, she could see flames coming from the living room couch.

After escaping, Mulka testified that she ran to her next door neighbor's house and knocked on the door. When her neighbor, Barbara Aimone, answered, Mulka told her the house was on fire and to call 911.

"I flew out of bed. Wendy fell into my arms and said 'My God - my house is on fire,' and I saw smoke coming out of the house through every crack," Aimone testified.

The night before the incident occurred, the defendant left the house twice, returning the second time around 3 a.m. Mulka testified that she was angry with her husband and spoke with him about being late on a work night.

"I yelled at him - but he didn't yell back because it was 3 in the morning and he had to get up. He was late and I was upset," Mulka testified.

According to testimony, the couple went to bed and when their alarm clock sounded later that morning, Mulka laughed at her husband because he was late for work.

Film reveals personal story

With one award-winning documentary already to his credit, a Wayne filmmaker is gathering footage for another documentary involving the deep well project controversy in Romulus.

"I'm not doing a film on whether a deep injection well is a good thing or a bad thing. I'm interested in focusing on the community that doesn't want it," said Steve Julin. "One angle may be the minority issue."

Earlier this year, Julin won a Telly Award for his 29-minute documentary In the Light of Justice: The Gary Fannon Story. The award, which was founded in 1980, is annually presented to outstanding non-network and cable television productions.

After working for one year on his award-winning film, Julin directed his attention to another local issue on which to base his next documentary.

Julin visited a community meeting at the First Baptist Church of Romulus on Tuesday evening to film speakers who protested the well as a minority issue. Julin's camera rolled as speakers questioned why Romulus has 20 dump sites and why waste disposal areas are often placed in low-income minority neighborhoods.

"I first heard about the well issue when Bill Bonds commented on it. Later, one of the dailies did a more in-depth story on it. I made a few phone calls, and talked to the mayor (Beverly McAnally) and the head of Romulus Envi-

Man accused of assaulting ex-girlfriend's daughter

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

A Westland woman's ex-boyfriend, who was imprisoned after committing four felonies and five misdemeanors, was bound over to Detroit Recorder's Court for allegedly sexually assaulting the woman's teenage daughter.

James Edgar Grassel, a 41-year-old Westland resident, was charged with first-degree criminal sexual conduct (CSC) for allegedly having sexual intercourse with the 15-year-old while she was sleeping at his home, located on the 5900 block of Linville Street. Grassel is being held on a $25,000 cash bond.

The incident allegedly occurred overnight April 30 when the girl and her 12-year-old sister and 3-year-old brother were spending the night in the defendant's living room. According to testimony, the victim was sleeping face down on a couch and was awakened around 3 a.m. when she felt something "heavy" on her back.

She testified further that she awoke to find the defendant lying on top of her and that he sexually assaulted her at that time.

The girl said she told the defendant she wanted to call her mother, but he denied her request and went into the kitchen where he began a one-hour conversation with the girl warning her not to tell her mother about the incident.

"He was telling me it was my fault and if I told my mom I'd get really sick," she testified. "He said if I told my mom, she would be mad at me and not him."

The victim reported the incident to her mother the next afternoon.

Grassel was a live-in boyfriend of the Westland woman for 10 years and was the victim's only father figure, according to the mother's testimony.

"He lived with me, then he went to jail. I was living with him on and off," the victim's mother testified.

Grassel had just been released from parole before the alleged assault occurred.

Police continue search for Alzheimer's patient, 72

Canton Township Police have enlisted the help of surrounding communities in their continual search for a missing 72-year-old Alzheimer's patient.

Richard Edwin Huntley, a resident of Canton

Crossings Apartment complex, was reported missing to local police April 5.

According to Huntley's wife, the man was last seen around 11 a.m. that day. Authorities indicate he has no money or identification.

Police have searched for Huntley, who was reportedly wearing a blue down jacket over a tan jacket, tan pants and tan shoes, in several wooded areas near his residence with horses, 4-wheel all-terrain vehicles and jeeps.

Officers have also searched along bike paths in Hines Park, surveyed the area by air and rechecked all buildings in the Canton Crossings Apartment complex.

"We're checking and rechecking areas," said Community Relations Officer Tammie Colling.

Toughest drug law in nation is topic of award-winning film

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

A Canton Township mother's plea to allow future parole to her son and some 120 other convicted Michigan drug law violators formed the basis for an award-winning documentary by a Wayne filmmaker.

Honored with a Telly Award for the film, Steven Julin continues to keep in contact with the people whose story he filmed last year.

"The documentary tells the story of Gary Fannon Jr., a convicted drug dealer who is serving a life sentence without parole," said Julin. "Fannon is a first-time offender, who was convicted and sentenced under the so-called '650' laws, which are the harshest drug laws in the United States."

The law states that any individual in possession of 650 grams or more of cocaine will be sentenced to life in prison without parole. The law, enacted in 1978, prescribes life imprisonment for any individual found guilty of possession, delivery or conspiracy to deliver or possess the stated amount of cocaine.

Julin's filming of In Light of Justice: The Gary Fannon Story is more than a documentary on drugs - it is the story of how one man and his family are coping with his life imprisonment without chance of parole. "When I decided to make the film about Gary, he wasn't in the news. I read a letter from his mother in the newspaper that caught my eye, and I couldn't believe what she wrote was true. I wrote to Gary in prison, and he sent me his mother's phone number," Julin said. "She told me her story in the film. I also had interviews with Rep. William Bryant, Oakland County Prosecutor Richard Thompson and Gary in prison."

"The film took a year to make. A lot of time was spent in getting interviews. It took me four months to arrange the prison shoot," Julin said. "It took quite a long time to get Thompson in front of the camera, but his appearance was crucial. I had to have his views supporting the '650/Lifter' to balance the story."

Julin said his award-winning film opens with former President George Bush talking about the war on drugs.

"Gary admits his guilt, and he said he deserves to be in prison - but not for life. Actually, his sentence is a death sentence, not a life sentence, because he will be in prison until he dies, according to the current law," Julin said.

Ironically, Gary, who was 18 at the time, was not even in the state when the drug deal occurred. The charge was his first offense.

In December of 1986, a Canton Township police officer on assignment with the Wayne County Drug Enforcement team met Fallon and arranged to buy a kilo (1,000 grams) of cocaine. After a series of meetings, involving Fannon, two other men delivered 727 grams of cocaine to the undercover officer and a Michigan State Police undercover detective in Inkster on Jan. 9, 1987. The two drug suspects were arrested at the scene, and Fannon, who was out of the state when the drugs were delivered, was convicted for his role in the conspiracy.

"Even though many people see an injustice in the heavy sentence for the first-time offender, many elected officials are reluctant to support a change in the '650' law because they fear their constituents will charge them with being soft on drugs," Julin said. "If, for example, Gary Fannon had been convicted of a federal drug charge, instead of a state law, he would have received five to 15 years."

"Today, Gary is still serving his life sentence even though it was his first offense and the law was found unconstitutional in 1992," Julin said.

ronmentalists Caring About People (RECAP)," Julin said. "I need to make some contacts with the well owners and supporters to balance the story, but, because the issue is in the courts, it is difficult to get people to talk in front of the camera. I gave myself a July deadline for the film, but it doesn't look as if I can make that."

The 27-year-old filmmaker's initial efforts received a poor start when he received a failing grade in photography in junior high school, but he did a turn-about in 11th grade when he took a film class taught by John Prusak.

"I got turned on to television in his class, and he was a real inspiration. I also had some good professors in college," Julin said.

Before graduating from Eastern Michigan University, Julin attended Grand Valley State College and Wayne State University.

"My ultimate goal is to work in some facet of production and make a living - not easy in this field," Julin said. "I like the kinds of things I see on Nova and National Geographic, and I hope to attain that level some day."

"Topics come to me, I don't go looking for them," said Julin. "Sometimes, it is frustrating to be looking and not find anything. But, then I have to sit back and let the story come to me."

"There are stories that have to be told, and I can tell them - in film - a different way."

Thousands of flyers have also been distributed to businesses in surrounding cities and subdivisions bordering his residence.

"We're not ruling out anything," Colling said. "We're searching here and have contacted people in his home town of New Jersey. Fortunately, the weather conditions have been favorable for him and us. It's not real cold outside."

Police have contacted local railroads, hospitals, police departments, morgues and The Salvation Army.

Huntley is described as 6-foot, 4-inches tall, weighing 155 pounds. Police encourage anyone who sees a man matching this description to contact local police and the Canton Township Police Department at 397-3000.

pen. He seemed a little angry," Mulka added.

Fire officials contacted Robert Mulka at his job regarding the fire. Mulka told fire officials he ignited an Afghan blanket in the living room before leaving for work that morning and "hoped it went out." Westland Assistant Fire Chief/Marshall Patrick Harder said previously.

The defendant gave officials no explanation why the Afghan was set ablaze and denied trying to kill his family, Harder said.

Fire officials found no evidence of a burned Afghan in the home and believe Mulka poured a flammable substance on the living room floor and furniture and ignited the substance before leaving the house, Harder said.

According to Harder, Mulka was suspected primarily because of the timing.

Low voter turnout at polls concern community activists

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Area residents share a pet peeve — lack of voter participation in Westland city elections and Wayne-Westland School elections.

Westland Chamber of Commerce President Dennis LeMaitre said Westland could be a better city if, “people would get off their duffs and do something.”

“I have a problem with persons in our community who voice their complaints about city services and the schools and don’t go to the poll to vote. Only 10 percent go to vote while 90 to 100 percent have complaints.”

Westland business owner Margaret Harlow said she has several pet peeves, but one of her top concerns is low voter turnout at the polls during national and local elections. Harlow said she feels many Americans take for granted their right to cast a ballot.

“Important decisions are made by very few people (in the United States). In South Africa people are waiting in lines for days to cast their votes,” Harlow said.

Some of her other pet peeves include narrow-mindedness and poor excuses.

“There are many people who cannot see the benefit of a project today on the effect of quality of services and quality of life to individuals and the community,” Harlow said referring to the Westland Library Project.

“People are so narrow minded. Sometimes they can’t see the big picture,” she added.

Harlow said she is also concerned that people make issues out of non-issues.

tion in the community and at the polls.

“While they complain about everything, they refuse to become involved. They need to look at both sides and initiate change to make things better. If people are not willing to take an active role in the community, they shouldn’t complain when action is taken,” Wolf said.

Wolf spoke of such hot topics as the Westland Library Project, the Wayne Community pool and local and school elections.

“People yell about what goes on in the schools and they don’t go to school board meetings ... and make their feelings clear,” Wolf said.

Wolf said those that do not vote really should not criticize a person elected to office because they had the chance to determine who that office holder would be and didn’t take the initiative.

An average Westland city election turnout is about 16 percent, according to Westland City Clerk Diane Fritz, whereas, an average school election has a turnout of between 18 and 22 percent, Wayne-Westland Elections Clerk Eleanor Harrington said.

Fritz added that voter turnout among Westland resident for state elections is a little higher at about 23 percent.

Potholes, copy fees irritate Wayne resident

By MARGO DEWEY
Deputy News Editor

Wayne resident Jim Netter has several complaints ranging from the 50-cent per page price taxpayers are charged for copies of city documents to his landscaping efforts. And he’s annoyed by all of them.

“This is ridiculous,” Netter said, referring to the fee for copying city documents, which he requests frequently. “Most copies around town only cost 10 cents. I’m also upset about the roads in the city and the multiple Band-Aid approach to repair the pot holes. These roads almost dance the steering wheel right out of your hands.”

Netter said he’s also wondering if anyone in the area can predict when is the best time to plant flowers.

“I’ve talked to so many people, and I’ve heard that we should wait until the end of May or the beginning of June,” Netter said. “With this rotten weather going from hot to cold, cold to warm and then warm to cold, who can tell when we can start planting flowers.”

Long-time Wayne resident Nancy Pride said she’s disgusted with the upcoming increase in the water and sewer bill. The increase will pay for the required sewer separation project mandated by state officials and will affect all residents.

Sewer separation, however, only needs to be conducted in select neighborhoods throughout the community which include areas bordered by Michigan Avenue, Wayne Road, Annapolis Road and up to Michigan Avenue. The fourth area is Woodbrook.

Pride said she believes residents not affected by the project shouldn’t have to pay.

“We have no choice in this matter, and now we are being forced to pay for something that doesn’t affect where I live,” Pride said. “This program is being funded federally, and those residents in the neighborhoods where the construction is going to take place are going to have their roads

Downtown disarray is disgrace

Former Romulus City Council candidate Mary Collins’ pet peeve is concerns the appearance of her city.

“Why does downtown Romulus look the way it does?” she asked.

Collins complained that half of the Romulus downtown area looks clean and neat, while the other half looks unkempt.

Part of the reason for the dirty paper and bottle-strewn area is that the landlords and some of even the business tenants themselves do not live in Romulus, Collins said.

“They are just happy to take the money they earn in Romulus and run,” she said.

“The city also has some of the best street cleaning equipment money can buy, but the units are only used two or three times a year. Why aren’t they used every week?” Collins asked.

If an organized government-citizen effort could be maintained, Collins claimed, there is no reason why Romulus couldn’t take on as attractive an appearance as Franken-

Questions ‘bug’ waitress

Usually Kathy Baker, a long-time waitress at the Best Ever Cafe in Canton, is good-natured about everything connected with her job.

Even though serving customers can be a bit trying at times, she keeps a smile on her face and a cheerful attitude.

“The only peeve I have is when someone asks me what the specials of the day are, and they are already posted in plain sight behind the counter,” said Baker.

Does it bother Baker when customers can’t make up their minds about what to order?

“No,” she said. “Often, when I go out to eat, I have trouble making up my mind what I want. It never bothers me when my customers are undecided.”

When asked if she is irked by people changing their minds, Baker said she has no problem with that.

Perhaps, the reason for her congeniality is due to her pleasant co-workers and boss, or the good-natured spirit of the “regulars” who seem to thrive in the friendly atmosphere of the neighborhood cafe.

Other waitresses noted that they are irritated when customers don’t pay attention to what their servers tell them and, consequently, everyone at the table asks the same question: What kinds of salad dressings do you have or what kinds of desserts do you have?

A common source of irritation for waitresses are customers who, despite good food and service, decline to leave a tip. Also, irritating to servers are chronic complainers who are dedicated to finding fault with something at every meal — no matter how excellent the food and service are.

Matching secretary coffee cups perplex area readers

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER

Whose cup is whose?

When we challenged our readers to match the five secretaries we featured in our April 24 edition with their personalized coffee cups, we didn't realize how difficult the contest would be.

Only one of the people who took up our challenge was able to correctly match two of the cups with the correct secretaries. The best that the runners-up could do was to correctly identify one - the "Beware! Attack Secretary" cup, which is owned by Van Buren Township Police Department secretary Sharon Kennedy.

Winner of the movie passes is Carol Carrier of Kirkridge in Van Buren Township.

Although she didn't win, Joyce Trent of Westland, had some delightful comments on her selections. She chose the cat cup for Jane Martin because "a people person is probably an avid animal lover," and picked the Secretary cup for Doreen McEvilly because "it shows pride in the job she has right out front."

Trent chose the flower cup for Barbara Adams-Earhart because "flowers are a calming, serene part of nature - a necessity where she work." For Lee Barati, Trent picked the Classy Lady cup because "she appears neat, honest and up front - a sign of classiness." Trent picked the "Attack Secretary" cup for Sharon Kennedy, stating, "because patrolmen has attack days, secretaries for them have their own humorous defense."

Five cups were pictured - one marked Secretary, another with flowers, one marked Classy Lady, a cat cup and the "attack cup."

The five secretaries were Kennedy, Barbara Adams-Earhart, Annapolis Hospital secretary; Jane Martin, Wayne city manager's secretary; Doreen McEvilly, secretary to the Romulus superintendent of schools, and Lee Barati, Hoben Elementary School secretary in the Plymouth-Canton Community School District.

The cups and owners are:

Westland detectives were investigating an unarmed robbery outside Perry Drugs store located at 31162 Warren in Westland, when a 22-year-old Westland man turned himself in to police, Westland police Sgt. Marc Stobbe said.

Robert Jeffrey Raines waived his right to preliminary examination in Westland 18th District Court Thursday and is being held on a $10,000 cash bond pending continuation of the case and a Lincoln Park larceny in Detroit Recorder's Court.

"He called the station and turned himself in. When we arrested him, he said he did it because he had a bad crack cocaine habit and was an alcoholic," Stobbe said.

The Westland robbery occurred around 9:40 p.m. on April 11 when a 30-year-old Garden City woman was robbed of her purse containing credit cards and $5 in cash, police reports said.

The incident occurred after the victim returned to her car after shopping at the drug store, according to police. A man she had noticed on the pay telephone when she entered the building, approached her from behind and grabbed her purse as she began to unlock her driver's side door, police reports said.

The woman began to struggle and scream and the perpetrator pushed her in the side and ran westbound through the parking lot and then northbound across Warren Road with the victim's purse in hand, police said.

Raines also confessed to committing a larceny at his father's home in Lincoln Park around 1:35 p.m. on April 15. The defendant admitted to taking three shotguns which he traded for crack cocaine, according to Lincoln Park police Sgt. Tim Reedy.

Raines has also been arraigned and bound over to Detroit Recorder's Court on the larceny over $100 charge. If convicted, he faces a maximum of five years in prison on the larceny charge and up to 15 years in prison on the unarmed robbery charge.

Conference set in death of area man

A May 20 final conference has been scheduled for a Wayne man charged with second-degree murder before Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court Judge Geraldine Ford.

Arlie Brandenburg was arrested by Wayne police for allegedly shooting to death 19-year-old Taylor resident Steven James Taylor Jan. 26. The incident occurred at Bran-denburg's home on First Street at approximately 7:20 p.m., according to Wayne Police Chief John Colligan.

Various witnesses testified during the initial examination March 2 in the 29th District Court before visiting Judge John McCartney. According to statements from Dr. Zia Sabet, Wayne County assistant medical examiner, one bullet went through the chest.

Wayne County residents announce bids for political seats

The political changing of the guard is now into full swing.

A major confrontation already is in the works for the 13th Congressional District seat formerly held by Ford.

13th Congressional District

Three Wayne residents, all from different political parties, are seeking nominations for the two-year Congressional term that pays $133,600 annually.

One, Craig Seymour, apparently is guaranteed nomination, as he is the only district candidate for the Libertarian Party.

Three Democrats will battle it out in the primary including David Geiss of Wayne. The other two candidates are Fulin Eaglin of Ypsilanti and Lynn Rivers of Ann Arbor.

Four Republicans including Glen Kassel of Wayne and Dennis Fasset of Belleville also are seeking the party's nomination. Other candidates include John Schall of Ann Arbor and Cynthia Willbanks of Ypsilanti.

8th District State Senate

Five Democrats and a lone Republican will be on the primary ballot seeking the four-year seat currently held by Sen. William Faust. The annual salary is $47,723.

The Democratic candidates include Patrick Norton, Kenneth Warfield and Robert Kickerson, all of Wayne, Charles Griffin of Westland and David Jakobs of Belleville.

The lone Republican candidate is Loren Bennett of Canton.

17th District State Representative

Three Democrats and one Republican have filed for the 17th District State Representative seat currently filled by Rep. William Keith. The two-year term carries an annual salary of $47,723.

The Democrats include Bennie Horne of Westland, Thomas H. Kelly of Wayne and David Keith of Garden City.

The lone Republican is Edward Juarez of Garden City.

18th District State Representative

Five Democratic and two Republican candidates, all from Westland, have filed for the 18th District State House of Representatives seat filled by Justine Barns.

The Democrats include Eileen DeHart, Patricia J. Pettipren, Charles Griffin, Bob Stottmeyer and Joseph Barrera.

The Republicans are Michael Novak and Walter Warren, both of Westland.

21st District State Representative

Deborah Whyman, an incumbent Canton Republican, has filed for re-election. The only candidate listed to oppose her in the fall is Donna Clark of Van Buren Township, a Democrat.

22nd District State Representative

Gregory Pitoniak, the incumbent Taylor Democrat, is seeking re-election. He will face his previous opponent, Catalina Hall of Romulus, in the Democratic primary.

Then he will be opposed in the fall general election by Taylor Republican, Joseph D. Slaven.

11th District County Commissioner

Two Democrats and a Republican have filed for the 11th District seat on the Wayne County Commission currently filled by Bryan L. Amman. The two-year term list an annual salary of $43,466.

The Democrats are Kenneth A. Warfield of Wayne and Len Straub of New Boston.

The Republican is Bruce Patterson of Canton.

12th District

Incumbent Kay Beard of Westland has filed for re-election and will be challenged by Christonna Campbell of Inkster in the Democratic primary.

Bhagwan Dashairya of Westland also has filed for the Republican nomination.

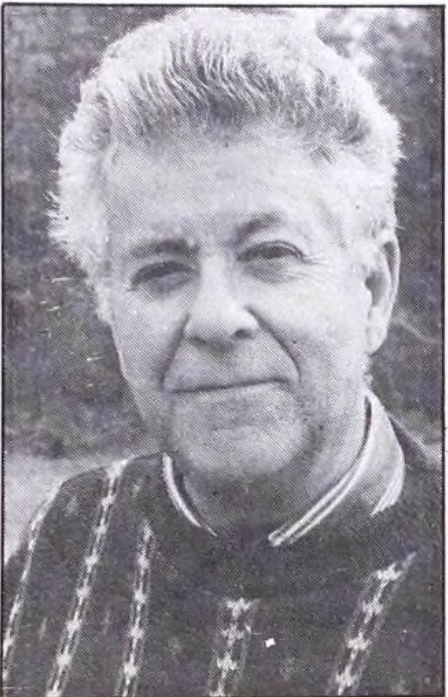

Romulus homeowner protests well project

R.P. Lilly, a Romulus homeowner and vocal member of Romulus Environmentalists Caring About People (RECAP) citizens' group, has a pet peeve central to his current involvement in the city dispute with Environmental Disposal Services, the owners of a proposed liquid toxic waste well in the city.

"Why does the U.S. allow Canadian businesses to transport their toxic waste to Mid-west America, when Canadians outlaw such dumping in their own country?", Lilly demanded.

Lilly, a retired businessman, has been making strong use of the Freedom of Information Act to trace environmental plans in Canada and how they could impact Romulus and other parts of Michigan.

Lilly also is a strong backer of the city of Romulus' referendum request for a 1-mill hike in the city budget to support an environmental protection fund. The referendum will be voted on in Romulus on June 13.

Margaret Harlow

Non-issues irritates woman

Westland business owner Margaret Harlow is upset by people who make make issues out of non-issues.

"It bothers me when individuals try to make an issue a male/female issue and not what is good for all concerned," Harlow said.

Narrowmindedness and poor excuses are other pet peeves of Harlow, she said.

Another annoyance is the lack of voter turnout at the polls, and the subsequent criticism of the system by those who didn't vote.

CITY OF WESTLAND Invitation to Bid

Sealed bids will be received by the City of Westland Purchasing Division, 36601 Ford Road, Westland, Michigan 48185, on or before Tuesday, May 31, 1994 at 11:00 A.M., for the purchase of the following:

A stitch in time Bridal shop helps with planning a perfect day

By LAURIE HUMPHREY
ANP Staff Writer

When you offer the best service possible, word travels fast said Marsha Dagenais, manager of Eva's Bridals in Dearborn.

"Business has been extremely good," said Dagenais. "Being new, we thought it would be slower, but it's been busy since the beginning of March. There is a two-week waiting list for fittings."

Located at 25070 Michigan Avenue, the shop opened last August because "the Dearborn area needed a big salon. It's easy from the expressways and we get brides from Canada, Lansing and Ohio," said Dagenais.

Open from noon to 5 p.m. Sunday, Monday through Thursday from 10:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. and from 10:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, bridal consultants help brides find their best look and coordinate the accessories.

"We offer complete service," said the manager. "Many brides come in here and have no clue about what needs to be done. They need someone who is at least knowledgeable about how long it takes to order a dress and do alterations."

The store is designed to offer one-stop-shopping for the bride and her attendants. In addition to wedding dresses, priced between $500 and $4000, the store has a wide selection of mother's dresses, bridesmaids dresses, prom dresses and accessories. A tuxedo shop is also on the premises.

Dagenais suggests brides begin looking for their dresses at least six months before the wedding, because it takes that long for the dress to be ordered from the various companies.

"We prefer girls look eight months to one year ahead of time so that they have time to look for accessories," she said. "And it's no problem to store dresses that come in months before the wedding. We even have some dresses ordered for 1995."

For a limited time, VIP card holders can receive a discount between 10 and 15-percent off all merchandise. The store also offers different incentives for different times including special discounts for parties that purchase the bride's and bridesmaids' dresses. "We work with our customers," said the manager.

Eva's Bridals in Dearborn features an extensive line of designer bridal gowns which offer the perfect gown in all price ranges. At right, one of the many styles is fitted to perfection for a future bride. Below, a few of the many styles and colors of tuxedos available are displayed. The shop offers attire and accessories for the entire wedding party.

Shop offers a 'better way' for car repairs

By LAURIE HUMPHREY
ANP Staff Writer

After years of watching car care customers absorb a 70-percent mark-up on car parts, Anton Nordby, a trained technician, discovered a better way to do business.

Nordby enlisted the aide of his sister, Vistina Franklin, and brother, David Nordby, to open Bring Your Own Parts Auto Service in Westland April 18. Located at 1251 Wayne Road, between Cherry Hill and Palmer, the family-owned and operated business caters to customers from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

"When my brother was working for other businesses, he noticed that about 25-percent of the customers brought their own parts and asked if they could be put in," said Franklin, "but the companies weren't allowed to do that. He got the idea to give people the choice."

The concept of Bring Your Own Parts Auto Service is to allow people to supply their own parts and save money. Individuals who chose not to supply the parts can purchase them through the new business however, at a minimal mark-up rate.

"The most we mark-up our parts is 20-percent and that price then includes labor and delivery charges," said Franklin.

Trained technicians are on hand to install brakes, shock-struts, exhausts, front ends, drive axles and rack-in-pinion steering but the biggest response has been to the $9.95 (plus tax) oil change. The deal comes with a $3 mail-in rebate.

Employees at Bring Your Own Parts Auto Service strive to please all their customers, those who know what the auto problem is and those who do not.

"We have a lot of people who are mechanics themselves and just don't have the time," said Franklin. "We also have people that come in, get a free written estimate and get a list of things they need."

All parts must meet state requirements before employees install them.

For the customer's convenience, there is a lobby on the premises, or they can wait in the comfort of their own home. "We get the approval of the customer before we start working on the car," she said.

For a limited time, VIP card holders can receive 10-percent off non-sale items, with the exception of the $9.95 oil change. For more information phone 326-9898.
